Science fair

DURING THE 6th annual science fair at Carmel Middle School this week, about 500 students submitted projects for judging. About 60 community volunteers took place in naming the winners, which were announced after press time. Categories ranged from chemistry and physics to zoology and engineering. In this picture, local science teacher Dorean Croll-Donahoe (sitting) rates the work of eight-grade students Selby Wilson (left) and Jessica Manke. (John Livingston photo.)

Temporary signalization planned for Highway 1

By DAVID LELAND

WITH RECENT Hatton Canyon Freeway litigation bound to delay construction several years, Monterey County and Caltrans are working on a project that could help temporarily ease the traffic gridlock on Highway 1.

The $130,000 effort, which was initiated by 5th District Supervisor Karin Strasser Kauffman, entails placing a traffic signal at Carmel Valley Road, which would be tied by computer to stop lights at Ocean Avenue, Carmel Rancho Boulevard and Rio Road.

"Caltrans recognizes that this will not solve the (traffic) problem because demand is above capacity," said Caltrans spokesman Gregg Albright. "But maybe we can improve circulation."

Work could begin as early as June, with construction slated to last about four months, according to George Divine, acting deputy public works director for engineering.

Divine said most of the work will be performed on the shoulder of Highway 1 and will not further disrupt traffic during the peak tourist season.

Caltrans is funding the work, with the county engineering the job and performing the actual construction.

"This is money wisely spent," said Albright, adding that the state transportation agency plans to place a signal at Carmel Valley Road in the event of a canyon freeway or the proposed four-laning of Highway 1. "We will be the banker and they will do everything else."

The two agencies will meet in the next few days to iron out details such as whether the light at Carmel Valley Road will be strung overhead or be a traditional pole-like affair, Divine said.

One thing is sure: it will still be forbidden to turn left on Highway 1 from Carmel Valley Road, which would entail major road work.

However, motorists turning left onto Carmel Valley Road from Highway 1 may have two opportunities to move. The first chance would be a green arrow, and the next would be a green ball, which would allow turns if there was a break in traffic flowing north on Highway 1, Divine said.

Divine added that he believes that the signalization will definitely offer an improvement at Carmel Valley Road.

"The you-go, I-go is a great idea, but you get hesitation that reduces the flow," said Divine, referring to the current situation based entirely on courtesy. "I think we will be able to push more cars through the intersection."

Once completed, the signals will be joined by underground conduit, which will allow the lights to "talk" to each other via a central computer at Carmel Valley Road, Divine said.

Divine added that he hopes to have the three signals on Rio Road near The Crossroads linked up to those on Highway 1, which would further facilitate smooth traffic flow.

Water district caught in middle of how to solve supply problems

By PAUL WOLF

PENINSULA WATER directors began a special session Monday by looking at what everyone agreed was a remarkable pictorial depiction of where they stand in trying to increase the area's water supply.

"Sometimes a diagram is worth 1,000 words," said Dale Hekhuis, chairman of the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District's board.

A photocopy was passed out to everyone at the meeting. It shows the district sitting at the center of an array of agencies, who took issue in one way or another with the district's long-term water supply plans. Each of these agencies has its own interest, and is shown in direct conflict with another concerning how much water is needed or how it should be used.

The chart is like a lesson on the unavoidable part of democracy called compromise. At least that is how the district is beginning to view it. About the battle of conflicting interests, David Laredo, the district's legal counsel, said, "We've tried to stake a middle position ... in this range of comments."

It is healthy that all the comments and criticism didn't come from one direction, Laredo told the board.

The "comments" at hand are the reactions of private individuals and various regulatory agencies to the massive draft Environmental Impact Report on the district's long-range water supply prospects.

The draft report, known as the draft EIR/EIS, moves the district forward on a new Los Padres dam on the Carmel River. It also studies project alternatives that could include a large desalination plant, or a dam/desal combination project.

The district has the imposing task of responding to all the comments, submitted in October, on draft EIR/EIS and its perceived shortcomings.

When the board met Monday, Jan. 13, the agenda was to form a plan on how to respond to the array of comments, questions and criticisms. Everything written about the draft EIR/EIS — comments on it, plus district response to the comments — becomes part of the final document, due this spring.

Most important, the final EIR/EIS will recommend to the board the final long-range water supply project, expected by most people to include a dam.

Tug of War

It was Laredo who made the eloquent graph — reflecting the diverse, often contradictory comments points of view. It shows the great tug of war of water planning.

Consider, for starters, that:

- While the California Department of Fish and Game would like more detail on fewer project alternatives than the 10 in the draft EIR/EIR, the League of Women Voters argued the district should look at other feasible ways to bring in more water.
- Whereas the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association is counting on buildout being less than what the district spelled out in the draft EIR/EIS, the cities of Seaside and Sand City contend the supply plans should foresee greater demand.
- As Cal-Am held that cost should be a key factor in final project selection, the National Marine Fisheries Service said it shouldn't be.
- While the NMFS believes the new water supplies should furnish "Fish First, Then People," Cal-Am argues it should be "People Only, Not Fish."

A PICTURE may in fact speak 1,000 words: this diagram, passed out at a meeting Monday, says a lot about the unenviable position of the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District, "caught in the middle" of a long list of agencies which have different visions of what the district should be doing.

Going to the dogs

Dear Editor:

I am writing to vent accumulated bile. An incident occurred on Jan. 8 when an unleashed dog bit my child at the River School playground. Needless to say this has left me angry and my child with a psychological fear of dogs that may last a lifetime. Pain and suffering should not be the result of a single trip to the school playground. The unleashed dog constitutes a nuisance as they steal balls from the children, bark, growl, and run about in a menacing way.

We go to the school ground to play but are constantly intimidated by uncontrolled dogs. One dog owner went so far as to suggest that the children play elsewhere and refrain from running.

The Monterey County ordinance is as follows: 8.20 unlawful for any person owning or having charge care of any dog to permit the dog to run at large and 8.36 that it shall be unlawful for the owner or person to allow said dog to defecate and to allow the feces thereafter to remain on any public or private property not owned or possessed by the owner.

We do not want this problem with unleashed dogs to result in severe maiming or death of a child before this issue is addressed.

As a group of concerned parents we are pleading with dog owners to please keep your dog on a leash and please pick up after your dog. This is a school playground and children will constantly be here during, after school and on the weekend. This is a school yard for children. Dogs can defecate elsewhere. For your information, there are three areas where dogs can run off leash: Mission Trail Park, Carmel city beach, and Forest Hill. Please utilize these places.

A sanitary environment is necessary for healthy children. PLEASE CARE. Urine kills grass. Feces ruin children's play. Many children have the misfortune of being sent home in an emotional state with soiled clothes by dog excrement, not to mention danger of disease and parasitic infection. Loose dogs endanger our beloved children whose happiness and safety is our ultimate concern.

The party's over

Dear Editor:

Yes, it will be very hard on a lot of people when Fort Ord closes. Jobs lost, families dispersed, car and house payments not kept up. A lot of suffering. Many people will miss the PX shopping and medical help.

But, can America keep up forever its more than 5,000 military bases all over the globe? Our military way of life has lost us our industrial supremacy. There is a limited market for Patriot missiles. In fact, we almost have to give them away.

Meanwhile, despite the miles of yellow ribbon, the pink slips continue. Wake up America! The party is over. The hangover is beginning, and lots of innocent people caught.

May God help them.

Time for mail delivery

Dear Editor:

I am writing to you about the mail service in Carmel-by-the-Sea, because it affects my aged father who lives there and is served by your facility. My father is essentially house bound, and is dependent on others to collect his mail from the post office and to post outgoing mail.

I would appreciate your input on why Carmel-by-the-Sea doesn't have delivery to homes and businesses in the manner of virtually every city and town in the U.S. with the exception of some tiny communities.

I know that this is not a new thing inasmuch as I was a Carmel-by-the-Sea resident as a child in the 1930's and have been a frequent visitor since that time. My puzzlement is why a quaint custom in a small village has persisted in the present crowded urban setting.

Carmel-by-the-Sea has many residents who are elderly, and at least partly incapacitated. I consider it a serious imposition on those handicapped persons to force them to come to the post office to obtain their mail, when it should be delivered to their residence by a carrier.

Lack of mail delivery another effect that is at least as serious. The Carmel-by-the-Sea business community and residents make much of the natural beauty of the town and its setting. However, much of that beauty has vanished because of pollution -- pollution by motor vehicles. A large part of the vehicle pollution is from residents who must drive their personal cars or take a taxi to and from the post office virtually every day. A handful of postal vehicles could replace the hundreds, or it it thousands of vehicles going to and from the post office.

Will you support mail delivery in Carmel-by-the-Sea? There is a time for everything, and mail delivery's time has come.

CRA seeks 'Citizen of the Year'

FOR THE fourth year the Carmel Residents Association is inviting the public to submit nominations for the Citizen of the Year award. Names and supporting information should be sent to Citizen of the Year Selection Committee, P. 0. Box 13, Carmel 93921, no later than Feb. 10. The winner will be announced at a celebration at the Scout House, at 3 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 23.

The Citizen of the Year award honors persons who have made an outstanding contribution to promoting the objectives of Carmel's Ordinance 96. That is the portion of the zoning code that states that Carmel is "primarily, essentially and predominantly a residential city." Nominations can be of someone who lives in Carmel or in its sphere of influence.

Previous honorees were: 1990, Enid Sales, for historic preservation, particularly the First Murphy House and Flanders Mansion; 1989, Joyce Stevens, participant in important community causes for over 20 years; and, 1988, Councilman Jim Wright, for leadership in civic affairs and participation in local government.

The Award Selection Committee consists of the last two honorees, Enid Sales and Joyce Stevens; Jim Holliday, president of the Carmel Residents Association; and two CRA board members, Jane Mayer, longtime resident, and Clayton Anderson, originator of the award program.

Discount bus ticket plan instituted

EFFECTIVE JAN. 1, 1992, Monterey-Salinas Transit introduced a new form of transit fare, Discount Ticket Books for Seniors, Youth and the Disabled. The Discount Ticket Books were introduced to give bus riders an alternative to the 50-cent-per-zone cash fare. The Discount Ticket Books will be in addition to MST's regular fare Ticket Books.

To qualify to use the Discount Ticket Books, customers must be 65 years of age or older, 18 years of age and under, or be disabled. Ticket Books will be sold for $10 each and will consist of twenty tickets per book. Each ticket is good for a one-zone, one-way ride on any MST route.

The Discount Ticket Books will be sold at the Salinas Transit Center and the Monterey-Salinas Transit Administration Office. In addition, customers may purchase the Ticket Books using a Visa or Mastercard by calling MST at 899-2555 or 424-7695.

Ticket Books may also be obtained through the mail: Monterey-Salinas Transit to Monterey-Salinas Transit, One Ryan Ranch Road, Monterey, CA 93940.

CVPOA offers conditional support for park expansion plans

By SUSAN BECK

BOARD MEMBERS of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association (CVPOA) agreed to support the expansion of activities at the Garland Park-Cooper Ranch property, with certain conditions.

Monterey Peninsula Regional Park District has applied for a use permit that would allow for additional recreational opportunities to be available to the public at the Carmel Valley park.

The public hearing for the use permit request will be Tuesday, Feb. 12 at the Monterey County Board of Supervisors in Salinas.

CVPOA board members agreed at their meeting on Wednesday, Jan. 8 that the park district's plan is ambitious and will have a serious impact on the valley, for example, the increase in traffic to and from the park area.

The plan includes extra functions at Garland Park such as an Indian Village, which will depict different aspects of the native Indians that formerly resided in the area; the reestablishment of the Girl Scout building on the property for day and overnight stays; meeting rooms available to local groups located in the main house, and the most controversial part of the package, mountain bike trails.

Roger Williams, board member, said that equestrian, pedestrian, and bike trails don't mix. He said that many parks in other areas are eliminating bike trails after a trial period.

"Garland Park extends to the village and is on our back. I believe there should be more public input rather than have the decision left to the park district's board of directors," said Williams.

Gary Tate, district manager, said that in the past two years there have been two or three public meetings in Carmel, Carmel Valley and Seaside.

He said that the bike trails will be entirely separate from the existing equestrian and pedestrian trails. They will never cross paths. Bike trails will be a challenge and require special attention and management, but said Tate, "they are appropriate and consistent with the mission of the park district, which is to provide parks and open space."

Also, the plan is consistent with the Carmel Valley Master Plan, said Tate. He said, "The valley's master plan encourages us to buy land and connect the communities with bike trails."

If, said Tate, the park district is hampered from caring out their mission, then there is the option of closing the park and making the property available for private development.

CVPOA's conditions of support allows mountain bike trail usage for a trial period not to exceed one year at which time there will be a review of the trail to determine any encroachment on the equestrian and pedestrian trails.

The second condition said Williams is the limiting of overnight occupancy at the Girl Scout facility to groups that are within the park district. The condition also includes noise level, specific activities allowed, and the length of time the groups may stay.

Thirdly, the park district's plan to use the Robles Del Rio area for camping has been determined by several fire districts to be a serious fire problem, and Williams said the board will ask that the area be eliminated for campers.

Tate said the conditions were reasonable, but pointed out that usage in Garland Park is limited to 140 of the 3,000 property, and is paid for by tax payers of the Monterey Peninsula not just residents of Carmel Valley. He also said that the Upper Valley Advisory Committee approved the district's plan.

Tate was optimistic that the extra activity at the park would be a determent to the community.

2016 Commitee: Preserve village

By DAVID LELAND

TO NO one's surprise, the group charged with creating a vision for Carmel in the 21st century has unanimously proposed that the town remain a residential oasis, and that business be relegated to a subservient position.

The Carmel 2016 Committee, which was appointed by the Carmel City Council early last year, will present its study during a special council meeting scheduled for 4 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 16, at city hall.

To say that the committee understood the full significance of its burden would be an understatement.

"The members are seriously concerned that if the changes which have occurred over the last 25 years continue for the next 25 years, Carmel tomorrow, with no dreams — either expressed or sought — may well emerge as a nightmare," the 16-page report said. "The committee feels that this (goal) can be achieved if the intensity of development, both residential and commercial, is not increased beyond what now exists in 1991."

Toward that end, the committee's reverie includes:

- Preserving and replacing upper-canopy trees and providing enough room to grow the next generation of trees.
- Reducing building footprints to allow enough room for upper-canopy trees and limiting building height.
- Limiting square footage of commercial development, traffic and parking impacts.
- Preserving the forest atmosphere by keeping Carmel's unique architectural style and homes built by the city's master builders.
- Making a business area with strengthened opportunities for resident-serving businesses, artists and artisans.
- Creating a city where pedestrians are favored over cars and commercial parking is eliminated in residential areas.
- Creating appropriate theater space for performing arts, and maintain current resources such as the Forest Theater.
- Building a post office plaza for expanded social opportunities by closing a portion of Fifth Avenue.
- Establishing a freight station and prohibit double-parked trucks after 10 a.m. daily.
- Annexing the Carmel Point area.

Citizens involved in the report, which is available at city hall include Chairman Neal Cruse; Edward Jordan, Vance Frasier, Noel Van Bibber, Suzanne Crowhurst Lennard, Bruce Kibby, J.S. Holliday, G. Will Gahagan, Paul Hazdovac, Greg Cellitti, Steve Brooks, Wendy Banks and Ann Beckett.

Survey claims cistern use has saved millions of gallons of water

By PAUL WOLF

WELL OVER half a million gallons of water are saved each year by Monterey peninsula residents who collect and use water from cisterns, according to the just released results of a survey.

That finding may be a vast underestimation, since there is reason to believe only some cistern owners responded to the districtwide mailer, according to Robert Hunsicker, who devised the survey.

The survey, done in cooperation with the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District, and asking nine questions, was included in the fall 1991 issue of Agua Preciosa, the district's quarterly newsletter.

Initially, a disappointing 55 cistern users mailed back responses. They indicated the type of cistern, capacity, estimated savings, and type of water use. The surveyers, disappointed with the response, followed up by contacting others who were known to have water-collection devises, and 23 more were contacted.

Many of the respondents, moreover, didn't indicate clearly what type of cistern they had, according to Hunsicker, who himself makes use of a cistern. He said many devises are make-shift or defy easy categorization, since any devise set up to collect water for use is considered a cistern.

Fifty-one percent of respondents didn't specify type of cistern. But 20.5 percent checked "drum," 16.7 percent marked tank, and 6.4 indicated cylinder.

Respondents were asked to estimate the amount of water they save in a year, and the total volume for 78 people was 508,981 gallons.

"This may be out of what could be hundreds of cisterns out their on the peninsula," Hunsicker said in a phone interview.

In a written report he prepared for the findings of the survey, he said the 508,981 gallons represents just over 1.5 acre-feet of water. Yet he asserted the true savings from all the cisterns out there is "probably over 3 acre feet."

By far the most common use for this captured water is for landscaping on the property, with 75.6 percent of respondents checking "landscape" exclusively.

As for the individual cities, the greatest number of cisterns were found in Pacific Grove, 19, then Monterey, 17, and finally Carmel, 11.

State Supreme Court declines to hear transient rental appeal

THE STATE Supreme Court has refused to hear an appeal of Carmel's transient rental ordinance.

In declining to review the case (with Associate Justice J. Baxter dissenting), the court left only the U.S. Supreme Court as an option for John Ewing, et. al.

It was unclear at press time whether the case will be appealed to the nation's high court.

Last summer the state appeals court upheld the ordinance, approved by the Carmel City Council in 1989, which bans rentals of less than 30 days in the R-1 District.

About 300 short-term rental homes are affected by the law, which carries a maximum fine of $500 a day.

The plaintiffs alleged that the law violated their Constitutional rights in that Carmel was "taking" property owners' land away by adopting intrusive zoning laws.

Volunteer firemen question city's regulation limiting work hours

By DAVID LELAND

A HANDFUL of volunteer firemen are worried that current city regulations could force them out of their public safety role.

Carmel Fire Chief Bill Hill said state regulations dictate that the city contribute money to the Public Employees Retirement System for each person working 1,000 hours or more annually.

With the city experiencing a monetary crunch due to the recession, it appears that any extra expenitures are being viewed with a critical eye.

"I think it is something that will get worked out with the city," said an optimistic Hill, adding that each volunteer is paid $5 an hour by the city. "We have discussed the problem and are working on it."

Volunteer fireman David Tedrow, chairman of the Liaison Committee, which represents the volunteers, said the personnel matter has become a critical issue.

"Two people are close to 1,000 hours," he said. "But if there were a change in policy it could affect all of the volunteers."

Tedrow added that, until the volunteers became city employees last year, the idea of retirement contributions was never an issue.

Hill said it is not uncommon for certain city employees to be asked not to come to work once they have approached the 1,000-hour mark.

Hill added that, even if the city decides to chip in to the retirement plan, the employee must also contribute, which would cut pay from the current $5 an hour.

Tedrow said the two sides will be meeting sometime after Jan. 17 in an attempt to come to an acceptable resolution.

State case closed on two CRA violations

THE FAIR Political Practices Commission has closed its investigation of the Carmel Residents Association after issuing a warning letter for a campaign spending violation.

"The (CRA) spent $1,000 or more in support of Measure E and failed to file a statement of organization and campaign statements," said Kristine Cazadd, enforcement division counsel, adding that the group spent $1,174 in an attempt to sway voter sentiment concerning the floor area ratio measure.

The defeat of Measure E surely helped shape the state's decision.

"The effect of the violation did not appear to influence the outcome of the election," Cazadd said. "And the public harm was minimized by the small sum of their expenditures."

Since being notified by the Fair Political Practices Commission, the CRA has filed as a political action committee and "educated their officers regarding their campaign filing responsibilities," according to Cazadd.

Garbage collection rate goes up in unincorporated areas

EFFECTIVE IMMEDIATELY is a 10 percent increase for garbage collection rates in the unincorporated areas of Carmel, Carmel Valley, Big Sur, the Highway 68 corridor, Castroville and Moss Landing.

The Monterey County Board of Supervisors approved the increase at their meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 14.

Rate increases were requested by Carmel Valley and Del Monte Disposal Services. The request was based on a 4.5 percent cost-of-living adjustment and 55 percent increase in fees charged to dumpers at the Monterey Regional Waste Management District (MRWMD) landfill in Marina.

This is the second increase in two years. On Oct. 1, 1990 there was a 11.5 percent increase to offset curbside pickup.

The monthly rates are now up from $11.05 to $12.16 for one trash can. Two cans have increased from $15.11 to $16.62.

Walter Wong, director for the Monterey County Environmental Health Department, said that he made a recommendation to have a member of the board of supervisors take an active part in the decision making of the waste management board.

That way the supervisors will know exactly why the increases are occurring, said Wong. He said Sam Farr was the last supervisor to be directly involved with MRWMD.

Water board's alternatives

• As the Environmental Protections Agency and the California Sportsfishing Protection Alliance support a large desalination facility, the State Water Resources Control Board issued comments against opting for desal.

And so it goes. At the meeting, directors note that the people-first, fish-first argument is a longstanding debate. Henrietta Stern, district project coordinator, distinguished between suggestions and requirements, which will ultimately carry the most weight.

Hekheis called the people vs. environment issue "a catch-22." He added, "I am hoping we can stay out of this game of 'People first' or 'Fish first.' "It just inflames the hell out of everyone."

But the district ultimately has to buckle down and choose a project -- and face the criticism. Said District's General Manager about the expressive chart, "There is no chance we can get all of these people to agree no matter what we chose."

Backyard burn season has begun

JAN. 1 was the beginning of the backyard burn season for Monterey and Santa Cruz counties. Only dry brush and trimmings at one and two-family dwellings can be burned, on permissive burn days only. The burn season, which has ended on May 31 in the past, may terminate April 30 this year.

For burn day status call 1-800-225-BURN or contact your local fire department. Some fire departments have additional regulations and time restrictions.

The normal use of barbecues, recreational fires, and fireplaces within the home are not affected by this regulation.

The burning of household rubbish is prohibited in Monterey and Santa Cruz counties except in areas where weekly garbage collection is not available.

For further information on open burning please contact Ken Kitts at the Monterey Bay Unified Air Pollution Control District at 647-9411.

Innovative Italian chef provides tasty trade secrets at Bay Club

By DAVID LELAND

NOW THAT'S Italian.

No kidding. Under an innovative chef-exchange program currently underway at The Bay Club, located at The Inn at Spanish Bay, the latest expressions in Italian cuisine are the order of the day.

"Italian food is not just spaghetti and pizza," says Davide Oldani, a sous chef at the prestigious Restaurant Gualtiero Marchesi in Milan.

Indeed, the only restaurant in America to reap the benefits of such an exchange program, The Bay Club is experiencing a myriad of subtle changes under Oldani's tutelage.

"I try to teach them the Marchesi style," says Oldani, who will assist the Bay Club staff until early February. "Every plate has a philosophy."

In other words, nothing is randomly prepared for the meal.

"Everything on the plate is there for a reason," explains Lisa Magadini, Bay Club sous chef.

Creative ideas at Restaurant Gualtiero Marchesi include removal of flowers from tabletops, which are replaced by priceless sculptures, and the absence of silverware.

"You start every course with nothing," says Oldani, adding that waiters magically appear with just the correct eating utensil at just the right moment.

For those uninformed diners, Chef Gualtiero Marchesi is an accomplished chef with more than 30 year's experience, and founder of Le Idee di Gualtiero Marchesi (Gualtiero Marchesi's Ideas), which combines the famed chef's expertise in food.

Restaurant Gualtiero Marchesi was also the first Italian restaurant to receive three stars from the Michelin Guide, which has only awarded 18 restaurants the three-star distinction worldwide.

The program initially began after John Chadwell, vice president and general manager of The Inn at Spanish Bay travelled to Italy and discussed the idea with Marchesi.

"We are honored to have the opportunity to share some of the infinite knowledge of such a culinary celebrity as Gualtiero Marchesi," says Chadwell.

The program began last year when Drew Previti, chef of The Bay Club, studied for two months in Italy.

With a little help from Oldani, The Bay Club is now offering a prix-fixe menu, which changes daily.

Oldani adds that Marchesi is also health-conscious.

"Italian food, in the beginning, was lots of cream and butter," explains Oldani. "But now Mr. Marchesi is taking out all the fat."

Simplicity is the name of the game when it comes to seasoning.

"If you have a piece of sea bass on the plate it should not taste like cream," he says, adding that he favors ingredients such as olive oil and sweet basil.

Bay Club Manager Tom Fichera says Italians do not take their meals lightly.

"It's a very serious business," he says. "Over there they (chefs) are heros."

Training collars

IF YOU are struggling to train your puppy or young dog to walk on a lead, a choke chain may be the logical choice, right? Wrong!

Many knowledgeable trainers and veterinarians realize that the choke chain is a dangerous relic of the dark ages of dog training that is potentially dangerous in both expert and inexpert hands. A strong jerk has been known to cause an eye hemorrhage to a Doberman, supposedly a very "strong-neck" breed.

Response to many complaints about the choke collar has resulted in a number of versions of canine head collars. One, the Promise Control Halter, is based on a dog's natural instinct to pull against pressure, but it puts the pressure on the back of the neck and away from the front of the throat. The designers took a tip from canine mother nature; a puppy responds to control from its mother when she puts pressure on the scruff of its neck.

Canine head collars are effective and humane. Ask your veterinarian about them. The Promise Control Halter is endorsed by the Cornell University College of Veterinary Medicine. If you're interested and have trouble finding it, call the Promise help-line: 1-800-333-1231.

FYI

Do you shop at Sears? If so, you'll be interested in this story.

Sears holiday "Wishbook" catalogue was going to include the sale of plush animals to benefit the Humane Society of the United States. When the National Rifle Association and the Wildlife Legislative Fund of America (both pro-hunting and gun-lobbying organizations), got wind of this, they told Sears they would urge their members to write, protesting the sale of HSUS toys. Sears promptly cancelled the promotion, claiming it violated company policy!

Many outraged customers protested by cutting up their Sears credit cards and even a few NRA members denounced the strong-arm tactics against stuffed animals.

You can use your purchasing power to show Sears you object. And if you'd really like to be heard, call Sears at 1-800-733-4357 to express your displeasure with the company's decision. Or write to Everett L. Buckardt, President, Catalog & Direct Marketing, Sears, Roebuck & Co., 7447 Skokie Blvd., Skokie, IL 60077.

Send a copy of your letter to National Catalog Customer Relations, Dept. 702 CCR, Sears, Roebuck & Co., P.O. Box 30, Downers Grove, IL 60515-5721. Please take a few minutes to express your feelings.

Couple foil purse snatch attempt, police foot patrol right on the scene

By JOHN DETRO

BEAT COPS aren't major players just for big, packed cities. This was clear today following the breakup of an alleged purse-snatching try in downtown Carmel.

"Once again," said Detective Sgt. Pete Poitras of Carmel Police Department, "we saw that crimes do occur from time to time in beautiful low-key Carmel. This is a relatively safe community, but citizens can take steps to discourage certain activity. Use purses with straps...wear the straps on shoulders...keep your eyes open."

And—"City Council favors having officers on 'foot beat.' Our goal: furnish officers on foot as often as staffing allocations allow. In the case of the Oakland couple, the man on foot beat was nearby and able to help substantially."

Poitras said the middleaged tourist couple (65-year-old man and his 46-year-old wife) was window-shopping. At the southwest corner of Ocean and Dolores, a young woman jumped out of a car and grabbed the wife's purse. Time—shortly before 10 p.m. last Saturday.

"There was a pulling match," Poitras added. "The young female suspect made a run for the car. She fell. The husband grabbed her. Officer Hector Gonzales was right around the corner, and heard the victim screaming. He ran to the husband's aid and arrested the young female. Also, a young male suspect got out of the ear. He too was arrested. It's obvious that they'd been driving around and looking for a purse to grab."

The suspects were identified by Poitras as "a Fort Ord army man" named David Guillot, 18, and Carissa Biehl, 18, Watsonville. The two were arraigned Monday in Monterey Municipal Court on charges of "strong arm robbery and grand theft." Preliminary hearing pends; they were being held at county jail in lieu of bail.

"Everyone likes the foot beat coverage," Poitras said. "We do our best to put one or two such officers out there each evening."

Leads are slim in search for missing Carmel area woman

SHERIFF'S INVESTIGATORS pressed for clues today in the sudden disappearance of Carmel area resident Adelheid Reimnitz.

The 50-year-old woman's husband, Rudolf, reported her missing Jan. 6 — and deputies said she may have been swept into the ocean while hunting mussels at Soberanes Point. Coast Guard and sheriff's divers have halted their search.

"Her silver Mercedes Benz was found there (Soberanes Point)," Sheriff's Public Information Officer Bill Cassara said Wednesday. "The investigation continues. We don't just take things at face value. Every possible aspect of the situation's under study."

Investigators from the Monterey substation were on the case, Cassara added. "Usually, a body will surface in 7-10 days. That has not occurred. We're pursuing other directions."

Friends knew the missing woman as Heidi. After the car was found, deputies also covered the rocks and trails on foot. They, too, came up empty-handed.

Cassara assigned the same status — "an open investigation until we get official closure" — to the missing persons cas involving Carmel's John King. The 56-year-old computer consultant's car was found at Moss Landing in October 1991. There was a note, but officers did not reveal its contents.

"He didn't surface out there," Cassara said. "We can't speculate. The case remains of concern."

King did not return home after a business trip to San Jose. Serving as family spokesman, Pastor Carl Hansen of All Saints Church said several weeks ago: "I have heard nothing from John...The note leaned in a direction, but was vague enough to discourage interpretation."

Get ready for the valley's big event

STEEPED IN pride and a desire to maintain the tradition and splendor of Carmel Valley, Glen Gurries and Dirk Oldenburg got involved with the community's Village Improvement Committee.

Dirk is the managing director of Stonepine Estate Resort and Los Laureles Lodge. Glen and his wife, Adreena, own Robles Del Rio Lodge. All three establishments reflect that philosophy of pride and tradition, not just in decor, but in their civic mindedness and philanthropy as well.

Noel and Gordon Hentschell were living in Hawaii 15 years ago when they came to Carmel Valley for a visit. They fell in love with the area and moved here. The Hentschells opened Stonepine in 1985 with Oldenburg as their director and have given back to the community ever since.

One aspect of their generosity is visible at every parade in Carmel Valley. Stonepine's magnificent horses, surreys, and carriages have become a legacy that enhances any event.

Gurries said, "There is something about the sense of community here that is like no other place. In 1985, we took over Robles Del Rio Lodge and were welcomed with open arms by restaurant owners, hotel owners, and the entire community. That's why we're so eager to give back to the community. Support and a network of wanting to help each other is really what Carmel Valley is all about."

Three years ago the members of the Village Improvement Committee got together and came up with idea of a community party to raise money for the pathways and beautification of the village. The members went to each of the local restaurants, caterers, and wineries, and "The Village Affair" was created.

This year, 20 local restaurants and caterers and seven local wineries will be providing food and libations for 500 people. Everything is donated, including the services of the chefs who will prepare their famous specialties ranging from hors d' houvres to main courses and desserts.

"This is truly a community effort and would not happen without community support," said Gurries. "Every restaurant that participates is eager to support the community."

Offering their outstanding foods this year are Bon Appetit, Baum and Blume, Bird of Paradise, A Country Place, Graciella's, The Iron Kettle, Kate's, Los Laureles Lodge, Lunar Cafe, Oak Deli, Plaza Linda, The Ridge, The Running Iron, Stonepine Estate Resort, Sweet Retreat, Taqueria del Valle, Thai Bistro, Village Pizzeria, and Wills Fargo. Pouring their find wines are Chateau Julien, Domaine de Clarck, Durney Vineyards, Joullian, Talbott Winery, and Ventana Vineyard.

"The Village Affair is turning into a tradition," said Oldenburg. The party is always held at Los Laureles Lodge and Gurries explained that Los Laureles has bent over backwards to accommodate the event.

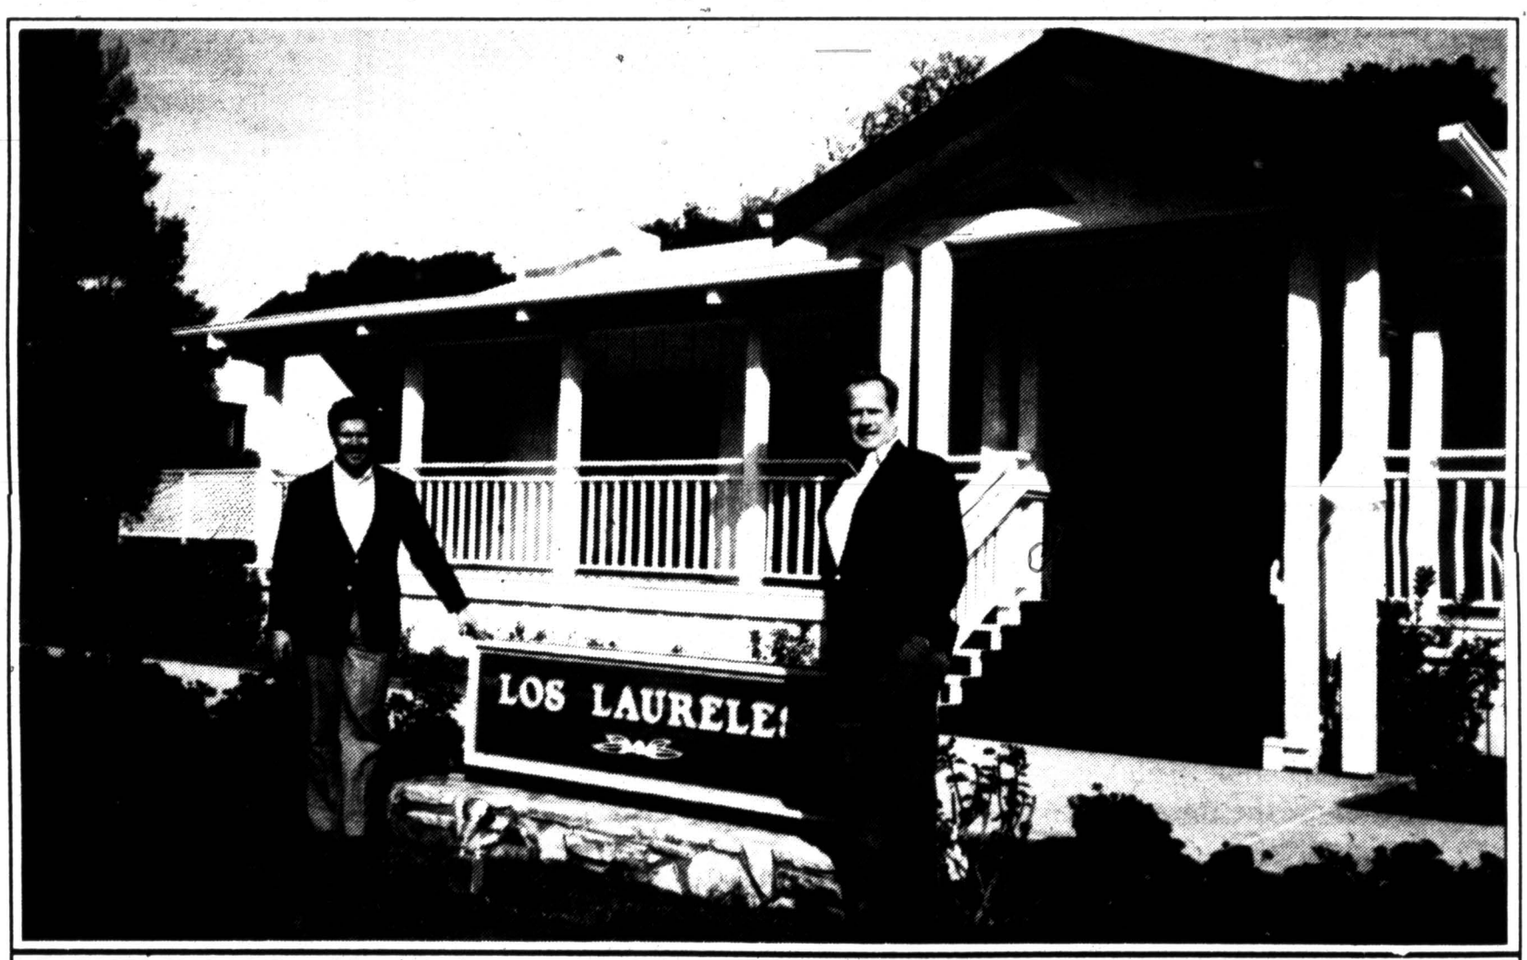
There will be a large tent donated by Ed Haber of Quail Lodge, which will house all the food and wine. Also, there will be two bars inside the tent for soft and hard drinks.

"Everyone will be toasty warm this year," said Gurries, "because we'll have heaters everywhere. And, there will be more food, more wine, and more good times than ever before."

For the low "bargain" price of only $25 per person, you can sample the incredible delicacies, sip sumptuous wines, participate in the silent and live auctions, and take home an etched wine glass. It's all happening at Los Laureles Lodge at 5:30 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 20. It's called the "Village Affair" because that's exactly what it is, and Oldenburg and Gurries will be there to welcome you with open arms.

New baby in Carmel Valley

MARIA BEATRICE Victoria was born on Sunday, Jan. 5 to Eva Louise Warga of Carmel Valley.



CARMEL VALLEY residents, Glen Gurries, left, owner of Robles Del Rio Lodge, and Dirk Oldenburg, right, managing director of Stonpine Estate Resort and Los Laureles Lodge, both look forward to the upcoming event, "Village Affiair," which supports the Carmel Valley Village Improvement Committee.

Old pros take CV tennis tourney

WILL GAHAGAN of the Carmel Valley Racquet Club and his new partner, Bill Conel of Oceanside, won the Rancho San Bernardo Heart Association Senior Tennis Tournament last week.

This was Gahagan's first tournament in the 80-years-of-age division.

They lost eight games in three two-set doubles match victories. In the finals, they defeated Judah and Rodney of Walnut Creek, 6-3 and 6-2.

Conel won the singles event, losing one game in the 70 and 75's division.

Jean Harris, also a member of the Racquet Club, upset Pat Yeomans of Los Angeles. Seeded No. 1 in the women's 75's division, and in the finals won 6-4 twice.

Another member of the club, Beth Oliver, lost in the semi-finals of the women's 70's to Elaine Mason of Fresno.

Sheriff's notice

MONTEREY COUNTY'S District Attorney's Office and Sheriff's Department announced that a total of 16 charges have been filed against Tamera Brandis Porter, 37, of Carmel.

This is the result of separate investigations conducted by the sheriff's department as well as incidents occurring in the City of Carmel.

After seven weeks of investigation by the sheriff's department and Carmel Police Department, the district attorney's office filed five counts of forgery, four counts of forgery of a credit card, three counts of grand theft, two counts of defrauding an innkeeper and two counts of furnishing marijuana to children.

The case originated on a complaint that Porter was furnishing marijuana to her minor daughter and other children. It continued with information that she had stolen a number of credit cards and checks and used these illegally.

The total amount of value on the use of the forged credit cards and checks is about $13,000. It is believed by the sheriff's department that there may still be undiscovered victims at this time.

Anyone having information about this suspect is asked to call Sheriff's Investigators Wayne Harvey or John Hanson at the Monterey office, 647-7672.

Valley student goes to Italy

TAMARA ELKINS, of Carmel Valley, was accepted by Youth for Understanding International Exchange as an international exchange student.

Elkins now attends Carmel High School, and will live with a family in Italy during the 1992 summer program.

The exchange program was established in 1951 as a private, non-profit educational organization dedicated to promoting international understanding and world peace.

Now, the programs are in more than two dozen countries and maintain a worldwide network of about 250 employees, several thousand volunteers, and more than 150,000 alumni.

For more information about the American Overseas program, call 1-800-TEENAGE, or for information about hosting an international student call, 1-800-USA-0200.

The rest of the story

THERE CERTAINLY has been a flurry of activity around here since last week's column criticizing the "Gourmet Gala" hit the newsstands. To recap for readers who may have missed the item, I took the "Gourmet Gala" to task as an event that has little substance to justify the $150

The original theme had celebrity chefs cooking favorite recipes and being judged by celebrity judges. Over the years, however, the celebrities have fallen by the wayside; replaced by regional and local cookbook authors, businessmen and TV anchors.

The price, though, has remained the same.

In response to objections from committee leaders for the Gourmet Gala, I offered them equal space to state their side of the story. The following letter from Mark Lupo, event chairman, is unedited and reprinted in its entirety.

"As Chairman of 1992 March of Dimes Gourmet Gala volunteer committee, I would like to comment on the editorial featured in your column, in the January 10, 1992 issues of the Carmel Pine Cone and Pacific Grove Monarch.

"The Gourmet Gala's sole purpose is to raise funds for the March of Dime's fight against birth defects, and to this end, we have been quite successful. The Gala, in its seventh year, has raised over $600,000, of which a sizable portion has been distributed within Monterey County. We feel that the cause itself, protecting our children from birth defects, gives the individuals attending this event their money's worth. What's more, the Gala offers each guest a delightful evening that will include a specially prepared gourmet dinner, ballroom dancing, and wine tasting that will long be remembered.

"Thousands of hours and dollars have been donated to the Gala to guarantee its success. What has made the Gourmet Gala successful has not been the fame of its celebrities, but the willingness of its volunteer organizers and the support of our community to raise funds for the cause.

"Our own Ventana Vineyards and Chateau Julien as well as over a dozen other wineries will be participating in this event. We also have many well-known personalities acting as chefs and judges, including entertainers, authors, and local professionals, all of whom have donated their time to the Gourmet Gala.

"We invite readers of the Carmel Pine Cone and Pacific Grove Monarch to critique the event themselves by attending the March of Dimes fund raiser this Saturday. We truly believe that it will be an enjoyable evening for all. For further information call the March of Dimes office at 373-8482."

I APOLOGIZE

For the many volunteer chair people who mistakenly operate under the theory that any and all information sent to this newspaper column as a press release is going to be printed word for word. Let's not pass off the regurgitation of press releases as journalism. The columnist who doesn't have a point of view is ripping off the reader.

I apologize for the volunteer publicity chairs who earnestly work under the hand-me-down thinking that a newspaper column is a community bulletin board. Granted, there is space for up coming events, but this does not mean compromise. They need to know nothing is automatic.

I apologize for those volunteers whose devotion and dedication to their chosen charity has gone askew. They owe it to themselves to keep things in perspective. If they believe in the cause, perhaps they should look for ways to improve the fund raising events they're offering to the community. People are looking for value for their charity dollar today.

Finally, I apologize to the readers who have been conditioned into believing a lot of fluff. Readers must trust that a responsible news person will offer an objective point of view even if it is one they may not share.

Give me three dot journalism anytime.

Interested in having your teeth whitened? Is your back out of whack? Chiropractic and dental services will also be up for bid and so will the fun stuff. Here are just a few: Two season tickets to the 1992 AT&T Pebble Beach National Pro-Am Golf Tournament, a Raleigh Horizon woman's 12-speed bicycle, dinner at Silver Jones restaurant, sojourns at Carmel Country Spa, and stays for two at Highlands Inn, Blue Sky Lodge, Los Laureles Lodge, Tickle Pink Inn, Robles del Rio Lodge, Monterey Marriott, Valley Lodge and several San Francisco hotels.

But if you're in the market for a good deal on a custom, hand carved wooden sign for your front door or two tons of Carmel Valley stone, circle items 53 and 91 on your auction program.

This year's Carmel Valley "Village Affair" will be held at Los Laureles Lodge on Monday, Jan. 20, 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. Food will be provided by 20 Village restaurants and wines are courtesy of seven local wineries. Proceeds will be spent to continue to beautify Carmel Valley Village, which is unincorporated. Tickets can be purchased from merchants in Carmel Valley Village. PEARL OF THE PACIFIC

A lively group of people enjoyed a warm winter sunset recently at the preview opening of the new Tickle Pink Inn. Many remembered the inn as a funky little motel with an incredible view. It's hard to forget the shag carpets, pink telephones and heavy Spanish wrought iron wall hangings. They sound garish today, but were so fashionable 20 years ago.

Charles Gruwell and his partner Teri Nolan were given the assignment of renovating the Tickle Pink and thought to themselves, "location, location, location." Never mind the 1960's motel decor, they saw a breathtaking view and all the ingredients for a romantic hideaway, a secret ocean-side lover's retreat.

They had been commissioned by the Gurries family, owners of the property since 1953, to modernize and beautify the spectacular property.

The brown and pink exterior has been re-painted in soft tones of pink and cream. Ferns and pink hydrangeas line the inner courtyard and so far three of the 35 guest rooms, the board room and all public space have been totally re-done in shades of toffee and cream. The new breakfast room and adjoining ocean-view deck are perfect for sunset watching.

If you decide to try the new Tickle Pink here are a few tips.

Ask for either Room 27 or 29. Otherwise you'll be back in the '60s.

Also, plan your arrival in the afternoon, that's when the chocolate chip cookies come out of the oven. Enjoy the evening wine and cheese and the sunset and then stroll down the driveway to Pacific's Edge at Highlands Inn for dinner.

THE FIRST members of the Lobo Hall of Fame were feted recently at the Monterey Beach Hotel. Former Monterey Peninsula College athletes honored included Gertrude Beall Woods, Martha Edwards who acceptedfor her son Herman, Nate Wright, Dan Albert and Peter Cutino. (Chris Hulse photo.)

PEEPS

Elisa Frankel is leaving the Tickle Pink Inn at Carmel Highlands just as it makes its debut, but Elisa knows in the hospitality industry you have to be willing to make sacrifices to get ahead. Frankel, who was general manager at Tickle Pink until recently, spent three years at Pebble Beach Co. and prior to that was GM of the Centrella Hotel in Pacific Grove.

She started her career as a concierge at the Hyatt on Union Square in San Francisco and now is going full circle, back to the city and the GM position at the Cartwright Hotel.

The new GM at Tickle Pink is former Assistant Manager Mark Watson.

Anyone who has spent time in Paris has heard of Le Chat Noir in Montmarte. This famous club is best known as the birthplace of French cabaret. Chanteuse Marie Therese Taylor brings the history of French cabaret to life in her one-woman show to be presented by the Alliance Francaise of the Monterey Peninsula Friday, Jan. 24 at the Monterey Conference Center. Taylor, a native of Belgium, is a graduate of the Royal Conservative of Liege and started her singing career at 17 when she was discovered by the "Glen Miller of Belgium," Joseph Thies.

Jud Vandevere has collaborated with Jacques-Yves Cousteau and PBS on wildlife films and is known around the peninsula for his work in resource management and the establishment of wildlife organizations. He will receive the Commodore Sloat Chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution 1991 Conservation Award Medal at a luncheon Tuesday, Jan. 21 in the Community Room of the First Presbyterian Church in Monterey.

MPOMA WANTS YOU

Last year's recruitment call brought in a record number of volunteer docents for the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art, but this year the museum REALLY needs help. The construction of the Armin Hansen wing at La Mirada will create a need for more docents.

The Justin Dart Wing at La Mirada will house the Dart collection of Armin Hansen paintings and fine art docents are needed to staff the new space in the Work adobe.

A six week orientation program will begin this month with the first session scheduled for Monday, Jan. 27. Additional sessions will be held on consecutive Mondays through March 30 (except Feb. 17 and March 16). Applications and additional information are available at the museum office or by calling Tory Raggett, 624-0886 or Ada Stenin, 375-0536.

COMING UP

Saturday, Feb. 8

Lucille Huntington's "Satin Dolls" will make a rare appearance at the Multiple Sclerosis Community Services annual fashion extravaganza at the Hyatt Regency. Fashions will include Dolores Gunia's 100-year-old vintage clothing collection. Current day selections will be from I. Magnin and Castleberry Knits. For reservations call 758-1663.

Saturday, Feb. 8

Valentine's Day means romance and chocolate kisses and the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art is getting in the act with the "Second Annual Rock n' Romance Chocolate Extravaganza." The price is right, the music is by the Fabulous Bagtones and the gallery exhibition is titled "A Kiss is Just a Kiss."

Call 372-5477 for details.

Sunday, Feb. 9

The American Institute of Wine and Food will visit Melac's restaurant in Pacific Grove for a food and wine pairing dinner.

Fred Dame will make the wine selections to accompany Cordon Bleu- trained Chef Janet Melac's dishes. Reservations are limited to members and guests. Call 624-4552 for information.

A full moon rising

HOW TO benefit from the full moon . . . scheduled to hit our shores in 29 degrees of Cancer, on Sunday, Jan. 19, at 1:28 p.m. Expect emotions to run deep and intense over the next two weeks as we turn our thoughts to mother, family and home. It's the time restaurants ought to hire new cooks, and concerned parents attend more PTA meetings in support of their children. Pay off the mortgage? Or take advantage of low interest rates by refinancing your home. Stop thinking about it and do something about it. Repeat marriage vows —all that is important to your emotional well-being.

This is an especially important time for Water Signs — Cancer, Scorpio and Pisces. Their sensitivity unravels and wham-bam, they pick up the moods and feelings of others like a sponge. Because of their extreme sensitivity to others' reactions and opinions, they can easily get hurt, even when the intent was not to do so. Mothers, please, please don't smother your children with love; too much excessive emotion can easily turn to dominating their lives. If they want to go hang-gliding or sky-diving, let them; just don't over feed them with brownies, pies and cakes before the big plunge or they'll barf all over Big Sur.

FULL MOONS are not the time to start new things, but to wrap up old things. Studies have shown there is a higher than normal amount of electricity contained within the physical body, more pre-cognitive dreams occur and are intensified during sleep. It's NOT a good time for surgery, as full moons promote blood loss (i.e., ever watch the tides on a full moon?).

It's a nifty time to make love! Great time for ovulation to occur with peak fertility. More humans and animals will be doing it (becoming sexually active) and believe it or not, more births with an increased number of admissions to psychiatric hospitals (please note the word lunatic means Moon-Mad).

All the fishermen in Monterey Bay will be happy to know that the fish will feed en masse (get the really big nets ready) because as a result, fish can be more easily caught (especially shrimp and herring). When I hosted my own television show in Key West, every full moon in water signs, fishermen brought me fish wrapped in newspaper, plopped on my desk in the studio, to prove my prediction! My freezer at home was always full and the fishermen were thoughtful enough to fillet them all for me. Nice touch!

Full Moons in water signs offer us an emotional bridge to be able to relate to each other an a sensitive level. This one will be in Carmel's solar ninth house, meaning that it's time for realtors to get the lead out and tie up "loose escrows," finish lawsuits.

Travel plans involving others may have to undergo revising and changes, they may cancel out and you'll have to travel alone. One last caution, with a full moon in Cancer, there may be some problems with overweight. A person puts on weight due to emotional stress and there can be an imbalance in the sodium-potassium levels in the body, or a weak kidney that needs flushing with lots of water because it does not empty out waste properly. Some will complain of having problems with hearing, which could be an ear-wax build-up, easily flushed out by your favorite ear doctor.

D.J.: (male) Carmel; born Sept. 12, 1951, girlfriend born July 16, 1943

Q. Are we compatible? She lives in Santa Cruz.

C.H.: Basically, Cancer (a water sign) with Virgo (an earth sign) is a nourishing combination. However, your freaked-out Moon in Aquarius is not exactly the cuddler of the zodiac, as it likes emotional freedom. The thought of commitment and marriage is foreign and makes you want to leave your body at the altar. On the other hand, your girlfriend's Moon In Capricorn wants home, security (as in dollars and cents, a dog or cat or both, 4th-of-July picnics, especially with her Sun in Cancer). Her Saturn in Gemini squares your Sun in Virgo, sometimes she's more like your father, rather than your girlfriend, but since Gemini is an adaptable sign, you two can communicate about it. This aspect often creates a difficult karmic relationship, yet because it's in adaptable signs, manageable. I mean, here you are D.J. symbolically trying to overcome the restrictions of your father. On an unconscious level you chose this relationship because you are questioning the value of whether or not you can transcend your own heritage.

Your girlfriend can represent limits, God knows she has her boundaries (you live 50-miles apart, do you not?) and you drive to her, do you not, symbolically surmounting the distance between you and your own father. You're light and fluffy, and hate heavy; she's in overkill when it comes down to reality. The relationship is definitely full of challenges, but you're helping her build her dignity. Since your Moon in Aquarius squares her Mars in Taurus, she's great in the sack and it relieves tension that she's endured this past year. She hates to eat alone; how many times are you late for dinner? Stop pushing her away, she's had a rough time understanding her own aggression in this relationship and she's been worried about money. Unconsciously, she's been battling her own mother through you.

Sometimes when we don't use therapy, we use each other without realizing it. There is much attraction to this relationship, your Mars in Leo (ego) and Mars in Taurus (money-oriented), but sex is used as a battleground where two inner children are trying to extricate themselves from their parents. I suggest same short-term therapy for both of you in order to bond this relationship on an equal level. I also suggest you both see Prince of Tides; Barbra Streisand (a Taurus with many other planets in Taurus), does a fine job as actress-director and brings much impact to the screen as man and woman come together as equals).

With your girlfriend's Mercury on your Uranus, both in the sign of Cancer, this relationship can grow in leaps and bounds, and it can transcend . . . but conventional, it ain't!

I do not tell fortunes, nor do I gaze into a crystal ball. Astrology is not fortune telling. It's not 'black magic.' Astrology is a self-analysis type of tool, a story about you, the individual, and about your life yesterday, today and tomorrow. It's an antidote you can have if you are willing to recognize your own behavior patterns.

When you know your month/day/year, time and location of your birth, you've got the ticket to learn about yourself and about other people, and places. Call me now at 624-2881.

HOSPITALITY ASSOCIATION TO HOST ANNUAL DINNER DANCE

The Monterey County Hospitality Association has announced that its annual dinner dance will be held on Sunday, Jan. 19 at the Monterey Plaza Hotel. The festivities will begin at 6 p.m. with a champagne reception and silent auction, followed by dinner and dancing to the music of Mike Marotta, Jr. and his band.

The annual event is hosted by the people who put on parties for everyone else all year long. A four course gourmet dinner will feature delicacies and wine from Monterey County.

The evening's theme, "The Bounty of Monterey County," will be reflected in centerpieces and displays featuring local events, festivals, attractions, sports, recreation, wines, seafood and agricultural production.

The silent auction will include an array of hospitality industry related offerings, including vacations, travel, lodging, event tickets, diners and services donated by the association's members.

Alan Richmond of television station KMST will emcee the evening's program, which will include the naming of the association's Hospitality Person of the Year Award. Past award winners have included Phil Lombardi, Nick Lombardo and Ed Haber, among others. Outgoing officers will be recognized, and incoming officers of the association will be announced.

The event is black tie optional. Tickets are priced at $65 for members and $75 for non-members. Reservations and further information are available from the Monterey County Hospitality Association, 649-6544.

For dinner dance attendees, the Monterey Plaza Hotel is offering a preferential rate of $60 for single/double occupancy. For reservations call the Monterey Plaza Hotel directly at 646-1700.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN TO MEET JAN. 18

The Monterey Branch of the American Association of University Women announces its January general meeting Saturday, Jan. 18 at noon. The event will be a salad luncheon, and the location is the Recreation Hall at Canterbury Woods, 651 Sinex Ave., Pacific Grove.

Dr. Gloria T. Hull, the featured speaker, is professor of literature and chair of Women's Studies Department at the University of California Santa Cruz. She will discuss the unique role of women in today's society. Dr. Hull has outstanding credentials: she has received numerous fellowships and grants during her career, and she is a prolific writer as well as a powerful teacher.

The public is welcome to attend the meeting. For further information, please call 624-1017.

WHITHER THE COMMONWEALTH OF INDEPENDENT STATES?

Economic earthquakes have shaken the world as political, economic and environmental changes have happened. Tremors from defense spending changes and the growth of independent states will be among the topics when Dr. Patrick Hatcher, vice-chair of the Department of Political Science, UC Berkeley speaks to the World Affairs Council of the Monterey Bay Area at their annual membership dinner Jan. 18.

Dr. Hatcher is a retired U.S. Army Lt. Colonel who recently led UC Berkeley-sponsored tours across the northern tier of Eastern European countries. He and his companions witnessed uprising in the Ukraine and the outbreak of war in Yugoslavia during this past summer.

Dr. Hatcher, a distinguished authority on the changing world political scene, has written on decision making in Vietnam in the book The Suicide of an Elite: American Internationalists in Vietnam. His new book Economic Earthquakes: The Reduction in Defense Spending will soon be available. The annual membership dinner will be Saturday, Jan. 18, at 7 p.m. at the Carmel Mission Inn, Carmel. A Reception at 6 p.m. will precede the dinner; members $20. Reservations may be made by calling Maria Wilhelm at 625-0208.

PARENTING SKILLS SEMINAR JAN. 17

The Monterey County Chapter of the California Association of Marriage & Family Therapists is sponsoring a presentation on parenting skills. Sylvia Krimsley, M.S., a local psychotherapist who specializes in working with children and their families, will speak on "Motivating Your Child to Behave Appropriately." Parents will learn how to foster appropriate behavior and will be provided with a range of tools they can use to encourage cooperation when their children are creating problems.

This parenting seminar will be held in the Community Room of the Crossroads Shopping Center on Friday, Jan. 17 from 7 to 9 p.m. Registration at the door is $6 for individuals and $11 for couples.

CONCERNED WOMEN'S GROUP TO MEET

The Monterey Chapter of the Concerned Women for America will meet the third Friday of the month. The next daytime meeting will be Friday, Jan. 17, at 10 a.m., at 1 Melway Circle in Monterey. Anyone (male or female) interested in this grassroots organization to help promote family values is welcome.

If you would like to join us but this meeting is not convenient for you, please call 375-6882 ad give us your name and address so we can let you know about future meetings.

HOSPITALITY ASSOCIATION SPONSORS "HANDS-ON ADVERTISING AGENCY" WORKSHOP

The Monterey County Hospitality Association is sponsoring a half-day workshop on advertising, presented by local advertising executive Paul S. Fingerote, on Jan. 16, at the Highlands Inn.

The workshop, entitled "Paul S. Fingerote's Hands-On Advertising Agency," teaches participants how to make their advertising work to their benefit by putting them to work in their own advertising agency to create an advertising campaign.

"I've always felt the best way to learn something is to actually do the work yourself," commented Fingerote. "In this workshop, I put the participants to work for their own advertising agencies, teach them how we work in our agency and then let them do the things we do to get results. It's a great way to learn how to profit from

CHEAP, SAFE ENERGY TOPIC OF NEW FORUM LECTURE JAN. 20

"The Promise of Fusion" for cheap, safe energy will be the topic of Dr. Donald Correll of Lawrence Livermore Laboratory at the next New Forum luncheon, Monday, Jan. 20.

As an associate director for the "inertial confinement fusion" program at Livermore, Correll is working to develop a method for producing energy that would not have the risks or toxic by-products associated with production of nuclear energy.

With three degrees in physics, including a doctorate at the University of California, Irvine, Correll has published a long list of papers on fusion research. He is an advisor on fusion energy to the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry.

A member of the Lawrence Livermore "brain trust" since 1976, Dr. Correll has also taught in the Department of Applied Science, University of California, Davis.

The Jan. 20 luncheon will take place at the Classic Residence by Hyatt (formerly the Parklane), at 200 Glenwood Circle, Monterey, top floor.

Reservations can be made by calling the New Forum office at 375-4518, or writing the New Forum, P.O. Box 22214, Carmel, CA 93922.

YOUTH CENTER CLOSED FOR DEBUGGING

The Carmel Youth Center will be closed from Friday, Jan. 17 to Monday, Jan. 20 so it can be fumigated to get rid of termites.

The youth center, located at Fourth and Torres in Carmel, will reopen as usual on Jan. 21.

RIVER SCHOOL'S HOOKED ON BOOKS

The Carmel River School PTA is gearing up for its Fourth Annual Reading Fund-raiser, one of the key fund-raisers of the year for the school. The event is open for children kindergarten through fifth-grade.

This year's theme is "Get Hooked on Reading and will incorporate many aspects of the area's beauty.

In the fund-raiser, which will run from Jan. 22 to Feb. 12, children will gather sponsors from among friends, family and neighbors to pledge money for each book or page read. All funds go to support Carmel River School's enrichment programs and campus improvements.

The event will kick off with the Fourth Annual Used Book Sale Jan. 22 at the school library. All books will be priced at 25 cents. Books, especially those geared for children in third through fifth-grade, are urgently needed for this sale. Drop boxes for books will be on the bench by the River School office during school hours.

For more information, please call Sidney Poncelet, event chairperson, at 625-0127.

Grow your own oak tree

OAKS ARE easy to grow and develop rapidly. Oaks can grow 1-1/2 feet or more a year and to 25 feet in 10 years. Trees that best survive are the native trees that have evolved genetic traits favoring the local conditions of soil, moisture, climate, etc.

By planting acorns from local trees, you maximize chances for survival and minimize damaging local stock by introducing trees with poorly adapted genes.

Here's how to proceed:

1. Collect acorns in the fall or winter from healthy vigorous trees in your neighborhood — from the tree or under it on the ground, choosing large acorns. Remove the cap if it is attached.

2. Soak acorns for one hour if picked off the tree, 24 hours if taken from the ground. Add 1/2 cup of bleach per gallon to the water. Discard any acorns that float or have holes, cracks or other defects. Dry the acorns on towels, newspaper or other absorbent material.

3. Pack the acorns in zip-lock plastic bags and place in refrigerator (not freezer) for at least a month. This should stimulate faster and more complete germination. Check the stored acorns occasionally for mold. If mold develops, repeat the soaking and drying and return to the refrigerator. Acorns can be stored in the refrigerator for several months.

4. After refrigeration, plant the acorn in the ground or in a container. (See paragraph 6). When planting in the ground, choose a sunny, weed-free spot with well-drained soil. With a hand trowel or shovel, dig a shallow hole. Loosen the soil several inches under the hole and add a pinch of Miracle Grow. Plant the acorn sideways, one inch below the surface. Water lightly.

5. Water weekly until the seedling is well established. Do not over-water; this will cause the acorn to rot. After the seedling is established, watering two or three times during the dry season should be sufficient.

6. For container-grown seedlings, use a quart milk carton or similar container slit near the bottom for drainage. It's important to have a container at least 12 inches tall as oak roots will grow to that depth before new growth is seen on the surface. Fill with potting soil. Thoroughly moisten the soil and place on a saucer or pie tin. After planting acorn, place the container outside or near a window where it will receive adequate light.

7. Container-grown seedlings should be transferred to planting site when 3 to 4 inches high. Scrape a circle two feet in diameter around the seedling to remove other vegetation, thus eliminating competition for moisture. Placing some type of mulch around the seedling will also help conserve moisture and discourage competing plants.

Acorns are available from the Friends of the Carmel Forest by calling 626-1610.

For further information, call the Carmel Forestry Department at 624-3543 or call or write: Friends of Carmel Forest, 626-1610 / P.O. Box 344, Carmel, CA 93921.

Foster care families needed

The Office of Community and Children's Services needs homes willing to share their families with children who need an alternative home—whether it be for six months or the whole year - while family reunification services are offered, or eventually a permanent home. Almost every currently licensed foster home is filled, the office reports. For information about fostering or adopting a child, call 899-8061 or 755-4660.

There are ways to stop abuse

Across the United States a woman is physically abused every 15 seconds. The YWCA of the Monterey Peninsula offers help to women who feel trapped in a potentially harmful situation through counseling, a 24-hour crisis line and a shelter for battered women and their children. If you or someone you know is in an abusive relationship, let them know there is a way out. Contact the YWCA Domestic Violence Crisis Line at 372-6300.

Reserve with toll-free line

There is a toll-free telephone number for making reservations at California State Parks through the MISTIX reservation system —800-444-7275. Reservations from out-of-state callers will still be made through the toll number of 1-619-452-1950. The toll-free number is not only for state park camping reservations, but also for Hearst Castle tours.

Obituaries

Earl Barclay Ferguson

Artist Barclay Ferguson, the 1st Earl of Lamond and Newburn, 67, a resident of Carmel, died Thursday, Dec. 26, at the Hospice of the Central Coast. He was a Scottish subject and a Canadian citizen.

On October 20, His Royal Highness the Prince James Edward Stuart, elevated his title. Viscount Ferguson to Earl.

Lord Lamond is survived by his wife Harriet, the Countess of Newburn and four children, Eric, Lord Ferguson of St. Margarets's Hope, presently residing in New York City, Lady Annabel Ferguson Allen, a resident of Ashland, Oregon, Jane Ferguson Willich Countess of Lamond, residing in Tiberton, Ontario and Lady Lesley Ferguson Ribner, a resident of Schenectady, New York. The Earl is also survived by his first wife Betty Sanjana of Canada, and two brothers, Angus 2nd Viscount Ferguson of Lamond, residing in Toronto, Ontario and James Ferguson Esq.., a resident of Carlisle, England. His sister Helen Bruce preceded him in death earlier this year. His Lorship is also survived by 4 grandsons and 5 nieces and nephews.

Barclay Ferguson was a cheery, exuberant artist and exponent of Scottish history and culture who was well known around the Monterey Peninsula for his ability to turn an art exhibit into a social event.

His illustrious art career spanned several continents, five decades, and at least nine specific evolutionary periods. Ferguson's paintings are included in numerous public and private collections around the world including the National Air-Space Museum Smithonsian Institute, Instituto Allende, Mexico, Canadian Westinghouse, and many others. Locally his work is included in the Morgan Flagg Collection, the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art, the Monterey Conference Center, and the Pacific Grove Art Center.

He was a member of the Carmel Art Association, and past president of the Central Coast Chapter of Artist's Equity. He also served as executive director of the Pacific Grove Art Center in the early 70's.

By the time he established his home and studio on the Monterey Peninsula in 1969 Ferguson had already met success in Britain, Canada and Mexico. He held many positions as a professional artist including stage designer, graphic and sketch artist, technical illustrator, muralist, instructor and lecturer.

From 1960-69 he was art advisor, art director and chief illustrator for Atomic Energy of Canada in Toronto. He was commissioned to create a mural, "Popol Vuh" at the Instituto Allende, Mexico where he earned his MFA at the Universidad de Guanjuato, in addition to a D.A. in painting and wood engraving from the Glasgow School of Art, Scotland. After graduating from Madras College, St. Andrews Scotland, he enlisted in Britain's R.A.F. during World War II, serving as an art specialist from 1941-47.

In addition to his military service his other contributions were recognized. Prior to his marriage to Harriet Lerner Allen in 1978 on the lawn of the Del Monte Lodge, Pebble Beach, the then Viscount Ferguson was appointed Jacobite artist laureate for Scotland, an honor bestowed for his vigorous encouragement of Scottish arts and artists worldwide.

The artist became known for his personal style of painting which he described as "new realism". Combining incongruous elements in out-of-context scenes gave Ferguson's imagination unlimited opportunity to manifest his sharp wit. Though often humorous, painting was a serious discipline that often demanded 12 hour work days.

From 1973 to 1976 Barclay Ferguson created an historical record in paintings of New York City's' cast Iron buildings. During this period his work entitled, "The American Flag at New York City Hall," was completed and was the only painting by a foreign national to become part of the official U.S. Bicentennial Commission's traveling art exhibit (The American Flag in the Art of our Country).

Former Herald art critic Irene Lagorio described his 1984 solo exhibit at the Monterey Museum as "...a formidable performance in quantity as well as quality" calling his large works (some 4' x 6') "editorial narratives as much as surreal images."

In a catalog which accompanied the exhibit Rick Deragon wrote, "a significant step in the artist's development was his discovery of surrealistic effects of the odd juxtaposition, the unexpected setting and how his great gifts for illusionist painting promoted such an approach."

After receiving a best of show award at the International Platform Association in Washington, D.C. Ferguson commented about the term, best. "It just means you're doing the right thing at the right time," he said. His philosophy of living was "...to learn, teach and to leave the world a better place."

Ferguson spent the last year in Oregon with his wife building their dream ranch complete with llamas and twin art studios. They named it Haddo Half Moon Ranch after the village where his mother was born. In response to the concern of their Peninsula friends, Harriet chartered a plane to fly home on Barclay's birthday, to be greeted by the Scottish bagpipers who also attended his last hours.

A memorial gathering of Barclay's family and friends will take place at 1 p.m. on Sunday, Jan. 19 at Xanadu, the Fergusons' Carmel home. It is requested by the family in lieu of flowers any contributions be sent to the Hospice of the Central Coast.

BARCLAY FERGUSON

John Patrick Wall

John Patrick (Jack) Wall, watercolor artist and sculptor, died of an apparent heart attack at Kailua Kona, Hawaii. He was 74.

Wall resided in Carmel about 15 years. He was an art director for major stores in Minneapolis and served in the Army as a public relations officer.

After his term of duty, he developed his own advertising agency, covering the San Jose, Monterey, and Carmel areas.

While sculpting was his major interest during his earlier years, after retirement he became worked in watercolor painting birds. He often was referred to as the "Birdman of Carmel."

He is survived by a daughter Colleen Wall of Butte, Mont; three sons Jon Wall of Spokane, Wash., Ed Wall of West Richland, Wash., and John P. Wall of Walton, NY; two sisters, Eileen Webber of Sun City, Ariz., and Mary Van Echteren of Wauwautosa, Wis., and a brother, William T. Wall of Sun City, Ariz.

He also leaves his friend and partner, Phyllis Baker of Carmel.

Cremation was in Hawaii. Memorial service will be held Thursday, Jan. 23 at the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula, one mile east of Hwy 1 on Carmel Valley Road, Carmel Valley.

Father Farrell's Wisdom

God's "law of love says it all"

100 years ago, an eccentric Anglican deacon and mathematics professor at Oxford wrote *Al*e in Wonderland* under the psuedonym Lewis Carroll. This novel appeals to both young and old, and many of its characters have become part of the world's folklore. The duchess says, "Tis so; 'tis true; 'tis love that makes the world go 'round." Having said this and argued that it is true, we can now argue that no fourletter work in the English language is so abused, misused and misunderstood as LOVE. Once, on a trip to New York, I saw a powerful but morbid play by Graham Greene, The Living Room. In one scene, an elderly priest in a wheelchair berates his two old maid sisters over the s· cide of their niece. "Do you think if she had come into a house where there was love, she would not have hesitated, thought twice, and talked to us?" Oh Lord, help us to understand that your law of love says it all, and may we realize that love is so misunderstood in all walks of life because most of us are neither walking, jogging, nor running, but standing on the sidelines of life trying to hitch a free ride. Amen.

SF GIANTS TO HELP SPORTS CENTER

It will be "turf meets surf" when the San Francisco Giants arrive in Monterey to meet the Monterey Sports Center mascots, Skipper and Sparkle. The Giants are coming to Monterey on Thursday, Jan. 16 to lend their support to the Monterey Sports Center. Pitchers Trevor Wilson and Paul McClellan, along with third-base coach Wendell Kim and Assistant Trainer Greg Lynn will appear at the event which will be held at Del Monte Shopping Center. Player photos, autograph opportunities and a chance to ask some of today's baseball greats questions about the sport, are some treats in store at the 5:30-7:30 p.m. event. A special highlight of the evening will be a raffle that will feature a multitude of prizes including: l) A VIP opening night package with two tickets to the first game of the season and two tickets to a pre-game party hosted by San Francisco radio station KNBR.

2) Special opportunity for a youngster up to the age of 14 to serve as an honorary bat person at one of the Giants' games. This lucky youngster will get four tickets to the game and a chance to meet and mingle with the Giants before game time. As an added bonus, he or she will receive a genuine Giants jersey personalized with the winner's name and his or her favorite player's number.

3) Family photo opportunity which will provide a family (or group) of four people with tickets to a game and the opportunity to have a pre-game photo taken with one of the Giants players.

The Giants' visit to Monterey will benefit the Monterey Sports Center. The Center, operated under the auspices of the City of Monterey Recreation and Community Services Department, is scheduled to open in June of this year, and will offer a wide range of recreational activities for residents of the Monterey Peninsula-It will house two swimming pools, a gymnasium that can accommodate up to three court games simultaneously, and an exercise-weight room, as well as full locker and shower facilities and a variety of other rooms to accommodate the Recreation and Community Service Department's many activities and programs. The Giants' Caravan is a community service program that has netted over $25,000 in the past two years for earthquake relief, youth sports programs and school charities in a number of communities throughout Northern California "It's always a treat to visit these communities in different areas that support the Giants," noted Dave Craig, Giants director of community services. "When you can give something back to the people, that makes it really special."

EPIPHANY SCHEDULE AT ALL SAINTS RELEASED

All Saints Episcopal Church of Carmel will present its season of Epiphany schedule of four Christian Education classes on six consecutive Wednesdays beginning Jan. 22 at 7 p.m. in Seccombe Hall of All Saints Parish, Ninth and Dolores.

"Raising Children for Social Change" explores our society's perception and treatment of children and how children and adults can develop respect and empathy to affect real and lasting social change. The course will be led by Karen Davis-Brown, M.S., who has worked with children and families in a variety of settings for many years.

"Christian Formation," a popular and ongoing course will explore through reading, discussion and experimental projects, what it means to be a Christian and lead a Christian life. Master of Divinity Joanne Niemann will lead the sessions.

The Rev. Angus Dun and Meryl Dun will present "Journeying through the Bible," using the King James version as a text to explore the Bible through the eyes of author Professor Siu May Kuo.

The public is invited to join the members of All Saints parish in widening their spiritual scope by attending the Epiphany classes. To enroll or for additional information, please call the church office, 624-3883.

Business appreciation

CONTINUING A tradition started last year, the Carmel Residents Association recently awarded a Certificate of Appreciation to resident-serving businesses, including Langer's Antiques and owner Hella Langer, who has operated the shop for more than 35 years. The certificates, given by directive of the CRA board of directors, honor those who do a good job of maintaining the qualities that help make Carmel a special place to live. CRA hopes the awards will encourage greater patronage of local businesses by residents. Awarding the certificate to Langer was Barbara Livingston, CRA awards committee chairperson. Langer, byt the way, will be leaving for Scandinavia Jan. 16 via Scandinavian Airlines for her 25th trans-Atlantic crossing. SAS will be sending a limousine to pick up Langer in her Carmel home for thre trip to the airport. Bon voyage!

Singing for La Leche

The Monterey Conference Center's Steinbeck Forum will be jumping on Saturday, Jan. 18 when acclaimed San Francisco singer/songwriter Dennis Hysom performs in a benefit for La Leche League of the Monterey Peninsula. Tickets for the 11 a.m. concert are $5 for adults, $3 for children ages 2 to 12 (under 2 free) and will be available at the door, or in advance from Dr. Sky's Book and Music Exchange (398 Lighthouse Ave., Monterey). For more information call 373-7943.

County symphony schedules varied program for next concerts

ON JAN. 19, 20, and 21, the Monterey County Symphony, with Clark Suttle as music director and conductor, will perform Johann Nepomuk Hummel's Concerto in E Major for Trumpet and Orchestra with the symphony's principal trumpet Adam Gordon; Joel Chadabe's "Many Mornings, Many Moods" featuring the composer and guest percussionist Jan Williams; and the Monterey County premiere of Gustav Holst's large orchestral suite, "The Planets."

The performances will take place at Sunset Theater, Carmel, San Carlos at Eighth Street on Sunday, Jan. 19, 3 p.m. and repeated on Monday, Jan. 20, 8 p.m. A third performance will take place at Sherwood Hall, 940 North Main Street, Salinas on Tuesday, Jan. 21, 8 p.m.

Chadabe will discuss computer music and its future at two pre-concert lectures on Sunday, Jan. 19, 2:15 p.m. in the Chapman Room at Sunset Center, Carmel and again on Tuesday, Jan. 21, 7:15 p.m. in the Lower Lobby of Sherwood Hall. The lectures are open to the public. Chadabe's appearance is supported, in part, by Meet the Composer, California — a nonprofit organization dedicated to promoting the musical creations of living composers.

Adam Gordon's appearance with the orchestra is made possible through a generous gift by Mr. and Mrs. Horace H. Wilson of Carmel.

This entire concert is supported, in part, by a generous grant from Cellular One.

Single ticket prices range from $11 to $25. A four-concert mini-series is available at $70 for Carmel Sunday matinee, $80 for Carmel Monday evening, and $60 for Salinas Tuesday evenings. Other discounts are also available. Advance purchase recommended. Call 624-8511 or 1-800-698-1311 for more information.

The Monterey County Symphony is the fully professional orchestra serving Monterey County. Since 1985, Clark Suttle, its music director and conductor, has assembled the region's best musicians to perform major works of the symphonic repertoire, as well as new and lesser known compositions in a six-program subscription series.

For additional information, please contact the Monterey County Symphony at 624-8511 or 1-800-698-1138.

The Monterey County Symphony is supported in part by generous grants from the National Endowment for the Arts, the California Arts Council, the Monterey County Cultural Council, the cities of Carmel and Monterey, and many individual donors.

Cleveland Quartet performs for Youth Music Monterey

YOUTH MUSIC Monterey, in association with the Eastman School of Music, presents two exciting recitals with performances by the Cleveland Quartet on Saturday, Jan. 18, and William Preucil, first violinist of the Cleveland Quartet and Robert Freeman, pianist, director of the Eastman School of Music on Sunday, Jan. 19.

The Cleveland Quartet (William Preucil and Peter Salaff, violins; James Dunham, viola; and Paul Katz, cello) is internationally recognized as one of the great string quartets of our time. The quartet plays on a matched set of Stradivarius instruments once owned by the legendary Paganini, on loan from the Corcoran Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C.

The quartet has toured the world extensively, performed on five continents, appeared at the White House for a presidential inaugural concert and were the first classical artists ever to perform on the Grammy Awards telecast. The quartet's extensive discography consists of over 40 recorded works. Their recordings have received "Best of the Year" awards from Stereo Review and Time, in addition to seven Grammy nominations.

Dedicated teachers as well as performers, the members of the Cleveland Quartet are on the faculty of the Eastman School of Music.

The In-Home Concert Series of Youth Music Monterey offers an opportunity to hear extraordinary musicians and composers in an intimate setting. Past guest artists have included Gordon Getty, Sam Adler, the Ying Quartet and the Cleveland Quartet.

Those interested in attending are encouraged to call 375-1992 or to write Youth Music Monterey, 2959 Monterey Salinas Highway, Monterey, CA 93940. There is an admission fee.

Youth Music Monterey provides opportunities for young people to enrich their lives through the understanding, appreciation and performance of music.

Youth Music Monterey is comprised of the Youth and Honors Orchestras of Monterey County and Summer Music Monterey, an annual summer program in association with the Eastman School of Music.

KAZU sponsors Fourth Annual Psychic Fair & Prediction Party

"IT IS my purpose in 1992 to help teach the magnificent messages of our nightly dream doctor," so says Kathleen Sullivan, dream interpreter. "People concerned with the planet and with world politics must accept personal responsibility for their own healing and growth. Planetary and political decay is certainly a reflection of our own internal malaise."

Sullivan will be one of the many readers at KAZU's Fourth Annual Psychic Fair and Prediction Party. KAZU-FM, Monterey Bay Public Radio, is once again bringing together local seers and psychics, oracles and stargazers to take an intuitive look at 1992, what it may hold.

Central Coast residents are invited to come. More tan 30 readers and unusual vendors will be gathered at the Student Center of Monterey Peninsula College, 980 Fremont St., from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday, Jan. 18, and from noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday, Jan. 19th.

The Fourth Annual Psychic Fair and Prediction Party is a benefit for Public Radio Station KAZU-90.3 FM. The weekend offers a unique opportunity to look at life through the eyes of a psychic.

Some of the styles of reading that you will find here are astrologers, aura readers, channels, palmists, tarot readers, psychometrists and more. If you don't know what these terms mean, come and find out. There will be speakers scheduled throughout both days explaining what they do, how they do it, and what they think about it.

Vendors will be on hand with jewelry, leather creations, handmade percussion instruments, Native American crafts, wearable art, herbs, incense, crystals. All of this and much more will be available throughout the fair. The Thunderbird Whole Life Center will present books and tapes for the mind, body and spirit.

Refreshments will be available. Admission is $4 and 20-minute readings are $15 each.

All proceeds benefit Public Radio Station KAZU-FM.

For further information, contact KAZU during business hours at 375-7275.

Author to discuss, sign 'The Girl Within' at Thunderbird shop

MONDAY, JAN. 20, at 7 p.m., at the Thunderbird Bookshop in the Barnyard, Dr. Emily Hancock will discuss and sign her new book The Girl Within. There is a $5 admission fee.

The book examines female development in a way that is radical and at the same time immediately recognizable. Based on her study of 20 women, Hancock uses their extraordinary stories to identify a turning point in a woman's life-between the ages eight and 10 and the onset of adolescence — when a girl crystallizes a distinct and vital sense of self, only to lose it in the process of growing up female.

Emily Hancock is on the faculty of the Center for Psychological Studies in Albany, and has a private practice in Berkeley.

World Traveler Series shows us mysterious beauty of High Arctic

THE 1991-92 World Traveler Film Series continues at the Sunset Center on Friday Jan. 17, at 2 and 8 p.m. with the travel film North to the Top of the World, produced by John Wilson. Wilson will be present to narrate the journey to Labrador, a strange and little-known land whose northern regions possess a lonely, truly spectacular beauty, and which is unquestionably one of America's last really wild places.

To most people, Canada's High Arctic Islands are shrouded in mystery. Cinematographer John Wilson takes us from southern Newfoundland, north through Labrador and into the High Arctic, to within some 400 miles of the North Pole. John's goal is to explore the landscape, wildlife and culture of these regions.

The expedition begins with the rugged beauty of Cape St. Marys on the southern coast of Newfoundland, followed by "humpback whale-catching" in Placentia Bay. Visit the harp seal shown in its habitat off the northern coast of Newfoundland.

Then north to Labrador and the highest mountains on the eastern North American mainland. They are also the most remote, and with their almost constant cover of swirling mists, the most mysterious. They are called the Torngats.

On the way, experience coastline wilder and grander than that of any other part of the two Americas. Rock cliffs rise like vertical walls of giant skyscrapers; deep fjords penetrate miles inland; giant icebergs float menacingly by. Puffins fly like wraiths through golden sunsets.

Cinematographer Wilson then takes us further north to Resolute Bay, the major airport of the North, and on to Cunningham Inlet to meet the white beluga whale. From Resolute, visit the remote weather station in Eureka, Alexandra Fjord, and share a campsite with an Arctic wolf on Tanquary Fjord.

John Wilson was born and educated near Montreal, Canada, and attended Sir George Williams University. He began his photographic career in 1971 when he set out on a motorcycle trip from Canada to Ecuador and the Galapagos Islands.

As an apprentice to a noted Canadian wildlife cinematographer, he learned the fine points of editing, sound recording and camera work. His still photographs have appeared in Audubon and Ontario Naturalist, as well as in numerous textbooks.

Single tickets priced at $5 per film are available at the door one hour before each screening. The Sunset Center is located at Ninth and San Carlos in Carmel. For more information please call 624-3996.

Ramon Kelley's recent works showcased at Zantman Galleries

THE ZANTMAN Art Galleries in Carmel will present a one-man exhibition of the recent paintings of the distinguished artist, Ramon Kelley with a reception at the gallery, located at Sixth and Mission steets, from 4 to 7 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 18. The public is invited to come meet the artist in person during the reception.

Employing remarkable versatility this year's collection attests to Kelley's mastery of various media. The art career of Ramon Kelley began early when he drew in the margins of his school books in Cheyenne, Wyoming. After four years in the U.S. Navy, he won a scholarship to the Colorado Institute of Art. For many years now, he and his family have lived in Colorado where he has built an award winning reputation in various media: oil, acrylic, watercolor, charcoal, conte crayon, pastel and sculpture.

RAMON KELLEY'S "An Old Mexican Mission," will be just one of recent works to be displayed at the Zantman Galleries in Carmel.

Kelley is a member of the American Watercolor Society, the allied Artists of America, Pastel Society of America, National Academy of Western Art and Knickerbocker Artists. In 1985, the Pastel Society of America designated Ramon a Master Pastelist, and in 1986 Ramon was elected to the Pastel Hall of Fame by the Pastel Society of America, New York City.

People, Kelley says, play an important part in his paintings His sensitive character studies are included in the Seattle Frye Museum, the Santa Fe, New Mexico Museum of Fine Art, the Spokane Museum of Native American Cultures and the Academy at West Point, along with many other public and private collections.

The show will hang from through Jan. 31.

For further information about this show or any of our other fine artists please contact Helen Whitcomb, sales director, at 624-8314, by FAX at 626-8408 or toll free at (800) 344-9359.

For more than 32 years Zantman Art Galleries has been the first stop on the fine art collectors list when visiting Carmel and Palm Desert. Representing over 75 artists from many corners of the world the galleries feature a broad spectrum of media and styles of painting and sculpture.

Listening contentment

PRESENTED BY the Chamber Music Society of the Monterey Peninsula, the Ames Piano Quartet who are respected practitioners of a rather specialized branch of the art of chamber music making, were heard in concert last Friday night in Carmel's Sunset Center Theater.

Mahlon Darlington, violin; Laurence Burkhalter, viola; George Work, cello and William David, piano chose a program which, for the most part, made for listening contentment and distinct aural gratification.

Beginning with a youthful Beethoven work, the "Quartet in E Flat Major" Op.. 16, they soon revealed themselves as masters of their genre. The purposeful playing of the unison opening of the "Grave" disclosed a fine string tone and firm pianistic weight. The ensuing "Allegro" with its fleet piano passages and the well controlled, yet fluid and agile string playing, was full of spirit and grace.

The musicians are sympathetic to each other and as a result, the ensemble was superior. The piano initiates the "Andante" with a smooth, warm, legato melody and is joined in like spirit by the strings. The violin and cello were allowed to display their artistry in songful style and the entire movement was sensitively and feelingly outlined. The delicate dynamic relationships were particularly well captured. The lighthearted "Finale" is based on a hunting-horn theme with the piano leading the chase. The fine liquid trills, runs and arpeggios that pervade the part were masterfully traversed by William David who is stylistically and technically a first class performer. With string collaborators to match, this was a scintillating performance of an entertaining and enjoyable composition.

Of like quality, but in a definitely more romantic vein, the Dvorak "Quartet in E Flat Major" Op. 87 was another engaging musical experience. Written when the composer was at the height of his powers, it is music which has warmth, color and humor. The energetic "Allegro" was played with romantic drive and great rhythmic excitement. The expression of the contrasting thematic material was colorful and vivid.

The "Lento" began with a tastefully expressive cello solo melody. It had a haunting lyric quality. An agitated middle section was purveyed with passion by the violin and then the cello returned with his arioso. The movement was flexibly conceived and musically artistic. The witty"Scherzo" with its exotically colored harmonies and the endlessly varied and smiling melodic content was very successfully drawn. A galloping "Trio", full of dotted rhythms was good natured and triumphant.

The "Finale" was genial and happy. It danced as it flew along and all the participants made spirited contributions to the joyous music. To round out the program, the obligatory contemporary work "On Light Wings" (1984) by Gunther Schuller was sandwiched between Beethoven and Dvorak.

Frankly, it was hardly a fitting filling. One must listen to these works carefully and one often finds facets which are intriguing, interesting or,at least musically educational and broadening, but not this time. The composition is technically demanding to play and certainly required much precise working out in rehearsals, but the musical content which flirted with 12 tone procedures and wispy jazz elements,' offered little of either element aborting itself whenever it seemed to be getting involved musically. There were lots of harmonics whistling around, some unison foot stamping, piano string plucking and piano lid drumming, but the end results were distinctly impersonal and for me uninviting and unmemorable.

The delightfully satirical Polka from the "Suite Divertisement" by the Polish-French composer Alexandre Tansman was a happy choice for an encore.

Say 'amen,' somebody

IT ISN'T often that we get Grammy Award-nominated artists to perform here (except for the occasional Chick Corea or Charlie Musselwhite, both nominated this year, by the way), but M&A Production will be bringing in two in the next month.

Coming Tuesday, Jan. 21 will be Grammy nominated (for Thank You Mamma for Praying for Me in the Best Traditional Soul Gospel Album for Solo, Duos and Group category) Malaco recording artists, The Jackson Southernaires as well as The Christianaires, both hailing from Misissippi, in a rousing gospel show at 7:30 p.m. at the Pacific Grove Middle School Auditorium.

Then on Feb. 15, M&A will bring in the renowned Mighty Clouds of Joy, themselves nominated for a Grammy this year (in the same category, for Pray for Me).

The Jackson Southernaires have won a variety of awards in addition to their Grammy nominations, including Traditional Male Group of the Year (from Gospel Music Workshop of America), Stellar Awards and NAACP Image Award as top male group. The group has been around in various configurations since 1940!

The Jan. 21 show in PG marks the sixth anniversary of bringing in great gospel concerts to the area for M&A Production, which basically consists of the hard-working couple Melvin and Audrey Williams. Melvin often emcees the shows, although the Southernaires show will be emceed by Brother Bob. And the couple have their own "New Gospel" show, "The Gospel Train," on KNRY 1240 AM Saturdays from 9 to 11 a.m.

Tickets are available at Bookworks and Lighthouse Records in PG; Recycled Records in New Monterey, Monterey Bible Book Store in Monterey, Do Re Mi in Carmel and Mom's Home Cooking in Seaside. Information's at 899-3950.

AN ARTIST who probably should have been nominated for a Grammy, Joe Louis Walker (and his band The Boss Talkers), will be performing Monday, Jan. 20 at Doc Ricketts' Lab on Cannery Row.

Touted as the "next Robert Cray" (primarily because he too started out on Oakland's Hightone Records and shows the same promise as a young crossover bluesman), Walker has two of the finest blues records of the last decade to his credit, the critically acclaimed The Gift, and his latest, Live at Slim's (which, incidentally has been nominated for a Bammy award, the Bay Area's answer to the Grammys).

Walker has been tearing up the club scene in the Bay Area for the past several years and it's just a matter of time before he achieves the breakthrough success of Cray. With his combination of stinging B.B. King/Albert King-style guitar playing and gritty Otis Redding-inspired singing, Walker has made blues fans sit up and take notice, but he also shines in terms of his songwriting abilities, arrangements and producing, talents he showed on The Gift.

Like Cray, catch this guy before he gets too big for not only Doc Ricketts, but the Monterey Peninsula (back in the early '80s I saw Cray perform at the Mission Ranch Barn of all places, but has he returned since he hit it big with Strong Persuader? Not yet.)

Ticket info can be had by calling 649-4241.

UPCOMING EVENTS with a musical bent on the Monterey Peninsula and outlying areas:

The Club in Monterey showcases Midas & The Bridge for a rare live music night Thursday, Jan. 16.

Midas & The Bridge is promoting its first domestic release Stand Up Wise Up, while working on a new recording to be released this spring. The veteran Jamiaca-born artist has been performing and touring since the late '60s and has a variety of recordings under his belt, including a few featuring reggae stars such as Sly Dunbar, Robbie Shakespeare, Marcia Griffiths and Leroy "Horsemouth" Wallace.

Ras Midas, who was once dubbed "The James Brown of reggae" because of his frenetic shows, describes hsis music as "fusion World Beat reggae," a combination of rock, jazz and reggae with a message.

"In my music I see a better world, that's why my band's name is The Bridge," he says, "...to bridge the distances between our cultures."

Opening for Midas will be local heroes, Jonah and the Whale Watchers, at 9 p.m.

Tickets for the show are available at The Club or at all BASS/TM ticket outlets (Wherehouse on the Monterey Peninsula).

JOE LOUIS WALKER

• Portofino Cafe will feature Mary Lou Sunseri and Nancy Stewart in a special evening of music celebrating a friendship that started 25 years ago. They will be singing songs from the Renaissance to the rock era, including a few of their own humorous tunes. Showtime's at 8, tickets are $5.

And making his first appearance Friday, Jan. 17 at Portofino will be San Jose-based singer/songwriter/multi-instrumentalist Steve Kritzer. He'll be singing original songs from his first album October Nights, as well as from his soon-to-be-released second album. A "New Folk" artist, Kritzer combines his distinctive vocals and his talents on guitar, mandolin, banjo and piano on warm songs and story-telling tunes. He's a regular fixture at folk fairs and festivals and has opened for the likes of John Hiatt, Ricky Skaggs and John Stewart. Show's at 8:30, cover's $6.

Also this weekend, Saturday Jan. 18 to be precise, master of the Appalachian dulcimer, Mark Nelson, will perform a concert of folk/New Age music. That's an 8 p.m. show with a $7 cover.

For reservation or further information about any of the above concerts at Portofino, call 373-7379.

• Doc Ricketts' Lab on Cannery Row continues its mixture of local bands and nationally known rock, blues, and jazz acts, including its popular Blue Monday blues series.

Acts slated for the coming weeks include Anson Funderburgh & The Rockets (featuring Sammy Myers) Jan. 27; the return of popular '60s rock band, Spirit in a "recession-busting" show costing only $4.99 at Dolores and Seventh, Carmel. 625-1915.

Art Notes

By Sam Colburn

An innate desire

ART HAS been around a long time.There is an innate desire that man express himself in drawing, painting, and sculpture, not to mention his expressions in music, etc.

What impelled him to draw the outlines of animals on the walls of the caves in which he lived? In my opinion these Cro-Magnon types got pretty bored with looking at bare surfaces of their apartment and decided to enrich them with images of the beasts around them.

It seems pretty clear evidence that art precedes any other kind of record keeping. As far as creation is concerned, who knows? I remember what the sculptor Archipenko said at the close of his lecture at the Carmel Art Association years ago: "Man is queeative, insect is queeative, queeation is ooniversal."

It is very interesting when showing of art is hung that is not subject to any sort of judging. The members of the Monterey Peninsula Foundation of Art get to do this once a year. There are no qualifications for membership outside of 15 bucks, and two works will be shown at the annual. The current exhibition at the Pacific Grove Art Center demonstrates what a really broad range of "seeing" is present right here on the peninsula as compared to large metropolitan areas such as New York or Los Angeles. In those locales current trends and fads are much more evident.

Hanging down the right hall at the center is a watercolor by Lisa Dean entitled "Myrtle Beach." There are buildings and reflections which give me the feeling of a city on another planet. Also in this area is an oil by Leo Tanous called "Thermal." It is light and airy — full of clouds, blue sky, and seagulls. Tim Robinson shows a fine block print, "Milkweed Pods." Betty Peckinpah offers "Bird in Cage," a subtle monotype.

The first painting on the right going down the main hall is an oil by Carl Bowman, "Barbara Bickford." He has caught the feeling of the model. "Form and Feeling" is perhaps an old-fashioned concept, but although Form has expanded, Feeling has been shunted aside in favor of techniques.

Grace Meredith is showing "Salinas Valley Woman," and Cathedral of Self." The first watercolor, the second is a collage of painted wooden pieces. Both of these works are rich in life and humor. "Jury of Peers" by Lloyd Jones is satiric and fun.

In the space above the stairwell hangs an acrylic by Sally Sanders entitled, "Three Muses." The space is well used. The colors are muted and the painting has the feeling of a watercolor. At the end of the main hall is "Dionysis Awakens," a kind of double image watercolor by Lucius Myron based on the fantasies of mythology. The "Still Life" of Alice Elcano is a full, rich watercolor in which she encompasses the fruit with a richly painted rug.

To my mind Virginia Conroy is a very cerebral artist. She contributes "Black Chandelier," an oil in very muted color, and an intriguing charcoal, "Tumbleweed Caught." I believe that she structures her work according to Archimedes' Golden Means. Jay Hannah shows a large oil, "Studio, New London." This is a fluid painting, cool in tone with warm colors coming through. "Study of Sam's Rock" is a progression of four drawings, ending up with the completed rock evolving out of space. Anita Benson displays an acrylic, "Sam, Crossing," and "Sam," which is a watercolor. That's me alright.

Fay Hopkins achieves brilliant color in her "Still Life." Dick Crispo entered "The Frog." This is an acrylic collage, and it has a glow which may come from the layering of pigment.

"Nude in a Misty Light" is a watercolor featuring very subtle washes that make the painting glow as does Renee Eaton's "Genesis" and "Then There Was Light," although the latter's work is a mixed media.

In the main hall is a mixed media work by Winfried Veit, who is German and lives in the south of France. "Breakthrough" is comprised of three forms rising, and is spiritual in content. This exhibit will be on the walls through Jan. 17.

Over at the Carmel Art Association Dick Crispo is flying solo through the month of January. The paintings are acrylic on canvas and on watercolor paper. This is not meant to be a pleasant show.

"Autumn in Berlin" is a large work. Dick has used overlays which give depth. Faces are suggested. At one end is a large border area which has no subject matter. It is helpful to the painting. All these works are based on man's inhumanity to man. Crispo is innovative in his use of media. "The Day of the Dead in Beruit" features a face built up with the acrylic. He uses photographs in this one, but they are not obvious and meld into the painting. Relating to the horrors visited on man by himself he gives us "Tinneman Unsquared." Death from the skies is pictured in "Live from Monterey."

There are also paintings on heavy watercolor paper with writing on each one. "Conduct Unbecoming" is very satiric.

Jazz Tides

By John Detro

Mellow and swingin'

PRAISE BE: The jazz talent rushes in today like those recent rainstorms. These headliners certainly shan't be as cold.

For openers, Kelly Leonard of Doc Ricketts' Lab on Cannery Row has extended the Sunday Afternoon Jazz Series through at least next month. Reedman and series booker John Cortes already announces an extremely strong February lineup.

LEE DURLEY

But let's not get ahead of ourselves. On Sunday (1/19), the guest artist will be longtime local vocalist Lee Durley. He's both mellow and swinging—and his personal book reflects Lee's love for and comfort with the art form. Extraordinary performer.

The Cortes rhythm section (John Donaldson on piano) works behind guests. These gigs run from two till six o'clock. No cover and never a minimum.

Nor will there be door charges for February's knockout programming — superb bop guitarist Bruce Forman (2/2), World Class tenorman Red Holloway (2/9), much-praised vocalist Kitty Margolis (2/16), George Shearing protege Kevin Gibbs at the piano (2/23).

"Kelly cares about this music," Cortes said. "He has been completely supportive all along."

And what about January's final Sunday? Super Bowl. Musicians will take the afternoon off.

THE FLUTIST and saxist Paul Horn doesn't say nay these days when folks call him a founding father of New Age music. It's equally true that his jazz credentials predate that designation by decades. Paul did fine work with the Chico Hamilton Quintet and shined alongside such other giants as Duke Ellington, Miles Davis, Chick Corea, Quincy Jones. In brief, the gentleman can play anything that pleases his sensibilities.

Horn will offer two concerts here over the weekend (1/18-19). His baseline: "Music has the power to uplift the human spirit and unite us all."

On Saturday evening (eight o'clock start time) he'll share "a meditative flute experience" in Carmel Mission Basilica. The parabolic ceiling there accounts for grand acoustical properties. It's recommended that listeners bring cushions. This gathering relates to Paul's best selling New Age albums — recorded in the Taj Mahal, Egyptian pyramids, various cathedrals.

On Sunday night (seven o'clock kick) Paul will give us a straight-ahead jazz concert in Monterey Conference Center's Steinbeck Forum. Producer Richard Armbrust says Horn will play sax, clarinet and flute. The local rhythm section: pianist Bobby Phillips, Terry Miller on electric bass, drummer David Rokeach at the trap set, Latin percussionist Macucho Bonilla. "David just came off a road trip with Ray Charles," Armbrust notes.

Each event carries a door charge of $15. Advance tickets cost $12.50 per concert or $22 for both (these may be found at Do Re Mi Music and Pilgrim's Way Bookstore in downtown Carmel). Collaborating with Richard on the production end have been Pilgrim's Way and Pacific Coast Church. Info: 626-8538 or 455-2292.

ARMBRUST ALSO books jazz portions of the Fridays at Eight Series at Hidden Valley Music Seminars. His next star (1/17) — witty songwriter, pianist and singer Dave Frishberg. An evening with Dave will stay in the memory for years.

Tickets ($12.50 per) will be available when the box office opens at 7:30. First set commences half an hour later. Snacks will be sold; wine-lovers were invited to bring their own.

VETERAN JAZZMAN and one of the founding fathers of New Age music, Paul Horn, will perform two concerts on the Monterey Peninsula, Jan. 18 and 19 in Carmel and Monterey.

Future file: Steve Erquiaga Quintet (1/24), Brazilian guitar genius Carlos Barbosa-Lima (2/7).

Ah, Brazil. Over at Kuumbwa Jazz Center of Santa Cruz, bossa nova vocalist Astrud Gilberto will be spotlighted Monday night (1/20). Shows at 7:30 and 9:30. Ducats cost $13.50 advance (through all Ticketmaster outlets) and $15 at the door.

Next: Elvin Jones Jazz Machine (1/27) with Sonny Fortune and Ravi Coltrane (John's son) on saxes.

THE ROMANCE CONTINUES IN ONE OF CALIFORNIA'S MOST BEAUTIFUL RESTAURANTS

Book Bag

By John Detro

At one with nature

THE SIERRA Club combines sensitivity with political smarts and truly remarkable dedication. Locally and just recently, the Ventana Chapter was part of the consortium which asked a federal judge to toss out the Caltrans Final Environmental Impact Report on the proposed Hatton Canyon Freeway.

Moreover, Ventana Chapter has a wide range of social, educational and legislative activities. The place to pipe into its informational flow — Sierra Club Bookshop on Ocean between Dolores and San Carlos in Carmel (624-8032). Special note: Sierra Club's celebrating the 100th anniversary of its founding by literary mountain man John Muir.

Not incidentally, the shop's a bright and intelligently-stocked place. Browsers welcome; you'll never go away bored. Offerings include scores of beautiful volumes from Sierra Club Publishing (the John Muir Books present this striking writer in fine paperback format), guidebooks, children's lore, calendars, on and on.

"John was an incredible journal-keeper and mountaineer," says store manager Charlotte Anderson. "He'd scramble up in a tree to better experience a storm. His descriptive prose is very powerful. He has this great positive attitude. For him an earthquake became a 'noble' earthquake."

Poking along those neat shelves, I found The Practice of the Wild. That's Gary Snyder's softcover essay collection from North Point Press (185 pages and $10.95). Gary's poetry is tough and lucent (an adaptation of classic Japanese forms). For this admiring reader, his prose always has seemed the stronger contribution — absolutely necessary to this continent's moral development. The latest title contains solid research and inspired conclusions.

Check him out on the vital matter of cultivated versus wild plus certain implications: "For preagricultural people the sites considered sacred and given special care were of course wild. In early agrarian civilizations, ritually cultivated land or special temple fields were sometimes considered sacred. The fertility religions of those times were not necessarily rejoicing in the fertility of all nature, but were focusing on their own harvest. The idea of cultivation was conceptually extended to describe a kind of training in social forms that guarantees membership in an elite class. By the metaphor of 'spiritual cultivation' a holy man has weeded out the wild from his nature. This is agrarian theology. But weeding out the wild from the natures of members of the Bos and Sus clans — cattle and pigs — gradually changed animals which are intelligent and alert in the wild into sluggish meat-making machines."

Another burst of brightness selected pretty much at random: "Every traditional culture has its dance. The young people who come to the study of dance bring their peerless perennial grace and power...Because dance clearly has such cultural and religious significance it often comes under attack from the administrators for imperialist powers — or fundamentalist preachers or ayatollahs."

Another move against our intrinsic goodness and that most fascinating juxtaposition: feral divinity. You see? Snyder makes his readers think, and provides accurate contexts. Through and through, it's a clear and provocative piece of work.

Beginning all over

In the new book
there will be a chinese screen
not too high, 4 to 6 feet in length, a forest feel with lush green vines
of broad-leafed Wild cucumber, spiraling gold light
evenly spreads and the mossy earth would be cool now to bare feet uplifted in play, toes curling happily.

—Matthew Friday

Homage to Eric Barker (1905-1973)

It rained all down the coast
The night of your passing.
(I remember you saying:
"It is like the quality of mercy
In Shakespeare.")

If I could write of the quality
Of Eric, I would say:
Gentleness and a sweet nature
And love of his fellow man.

A figure slightly bowed
Walking along Hartnell Street
By Gallatin's.

The willows are so green this year,
And there are violets and primroses
In the gardens of Monterey. . . .

But the night was shrounded
With rain
All down the coast road
The night of your passing.

—Margaret Paroutaud

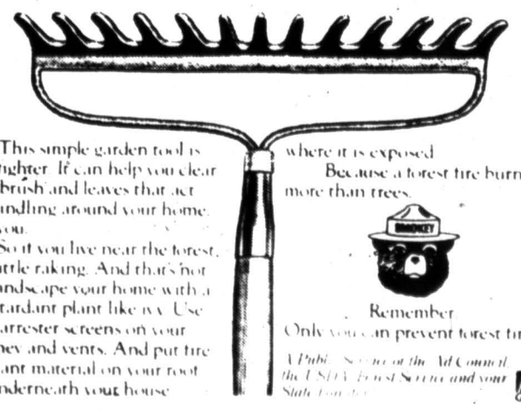
HOW THIS RAKE CAN SAVE YOUR LIFE.



This simple garden tool is a firefighter. It can help you clear away brush and leaves that act like kindling around your home. And you.

So if you live near the forest, do a little raking. And that's not all. Landscape your home with a fire retardant plant like ivy. Use spark arrester screens on your chimney and vents. And put fire retardant material on your roof and underneath your house where it is exposed.

Because a forest fire burns more than trees.

Remember.
Only you can prevent forest fires.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE

of Nellie Louise Fleming Scott, aka NELLIE L. SCOTT.

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of NELLIE LOUISE FLEMING SCOTT, aka NELLIE L. SCOTT.

A PETITION has been filed by ROBERT ANDREW SCOTT in the superior court of California, County of MONTEREY.

THE PETITION requests that ROBERT ANDREW SCOTT be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicil's, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on JANUARY 31, 1992 at 9:30 in Dept.. Probate : located at 1200 Aguajito Rd., Monterey, Ca. 93940.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in section 9100 of the California Probate Code. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a formal Request for Special Notice of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in section 1250 of the California Probate Code. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

SPCA needs towels, blankets, paper

The SPCA of Monterey County, needs towels, sheets, blankets, pillowcases and newspaper for use in the animal shelter and wildlife center.

Blankets are used as comforters for the many puppies who are brought into the shelter.

The greatest demand is for clean towels in both the shelter and especially the wildlife center.

Newspapers are used in the cat litter pans.

Donated items can be delivered to The SPCA of Monterey County animal shelter, 1002 Monterey Salinas Highway 68 (five miles east of the Monterey Peninsula Airport), any day of the week between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. If the donor has a significant quantity and cannot deliver the items, arrangements can be made to pick them up.

For further information, call 373-2631, ext. 221.
